Star's Carriers Join in Rubber Scrap Campaign

Marion Star carriers, cooperating in the rubber scrap drive, will continue next week to pick up small quantities of rubber their customers want to give, or, in instances where subscribers have large amounts to contribute, to take names and addresses and turn them over to chairmen of the scrap drive.

The carriers were asked Tuesday by Delmas Jenkins, circulation manager, to enlarge their scope of volunteer war work and on Wednesday they began to canvass the customers on their routes.

Reports of the first week of their work have not been compiled

The scrap rubber collection assistance is in addition to the carriers' long-established service of selling war stamps and issuing war bond orders from their subscribers.

NEW "PURGE" PEAK REPORTED IN EUROPE

German Firing Squads Reaching New High in Bloodshed.

By The Associated Press

German firing squads today were reported reaching a new peak of bloodshed in conquered Europe.

In London, the Polish government-in-exile said a new wave of mass executions had begun in Poland, with more and more women crumpling before the fusillades of Nazi executioners squads. Forty persons, including 22 women, were said to have been taken from Warsaw prison and shot. Fifteen others, including 12 women, were reported hanged in Poznan.

At the same time, the German news agency DNB admitted that a sweeping purge of "anti-social elements"—meaning anyone who disagrees with the Nazis—had started in Vienna and the lower Danube province of Austria.

DNB intimated the purge would embrace the entire German Reich.

The news agency declared "anti-social persons represent an element of unrest of the first order" and defined them as anyone who "owing to criminal, anti-state or querulous inclinations continually enters into conflict" with Nazi rule.

Thus, obliquely, the Germans gave the first intimation of smouldering dissatisfaction in Austria, which the Nazis seized in a ruthless coup in March, 1938.

British Announce Three Large Jap Ships Sunk

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 20 — British submarines have sunk three large Japanese ships in the Straits of Malacca, the admiralty announced today.

The Straits of Malacca separate Malaya and Sumatra. Both overrun by the Japanese early this year.

The date of the British submarine actions was not given.

MEET TO MAP COUNTERBLOWS

Observers Believe Roosevelt-Churchill Conference Called To Plan Strategy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 20 — President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were believed today to be mapping counterblows to a desperate Axis summer offensive in Europe, Asia and Africa.

The White House continued the strict official silence imposed when the strategy conferences were announced Thursday night, but the official encouragement to speculate on invasion of the European continent, the grave turn of the war in Africa and the rising fury of conflict on the Eastern front indicated to many in the capital that decisions were being made in the knowledge that Berlin and Tokyo already were sending new forces toward a battle whose zero hour was drawing near.

The Allied high command, it was thought, would certainly have received advance intelligence of any tremendous German move in Europe.

Troop Moves Known

Observers pointed out that diplomatic sources in London had known of German troop movements for the Russian war several months before it started and that the British had tried to stem the German drive through the Balkans with troop convoys which had to be planned weeks in advance.

Any large-scale change in German dispositions now, it was said, could hardly have been concealed from air reconnaissance or the eyes of the tens of millions of defeated peoples in countries through which troop trains might have to pass. Most of the exiled governments in London have been able to keep in touch with sources in their homeland and would get such information.

London reports that Prime Minister Churchill was seeking quick United States help in stabilizing the Mediterranean front were taken to indicate that the British believed a tremendous German drive against Suez was impending, if not already under way.

As for the Pacific, word from China that the Japanese were preparing a blow against Siberia was being taken with increasing seriousness.

The exploratory Japanese sallies against the Aleutians, it was said, might well have been primarily to establish reconnaissance bases. These bases would be used to send word of any large-scale American convoys bearing aid for the Red armies in Siberia.

Observers assessing the world military situation saw American production power slowly tipping the scales in any long range view of the war. They believed the Axis, therefore, would try for a quick victory.

The immediate task of the President and the Prime Minister was pictured as that of distributing available strength to meet Axis threats and developing Allied counter-drives.

Marion Rifles Get Proposal To Become State Guard Unit

Suggestion from Governor Brought Here by Adjutant General; Decision Likely Tuesday.

Men of the Marion Rifles will be given the opportunity Tuesday night to become the first of three new infantry units which will be formed as a part of the Ohio State Guard, it was disclosed following a visit to Marion yesterday of Gen. Donald F. Pancost, adjutant general of Ohio.

Governor Bricker, realizing the increasing importance of the Marion area from a military standpoint because of the Scioto Ordnance Plant and other war projects, suggested to General Pancost that an Ohio State guard company be formed in Marion, it was reported.

The adjutant general met with George D. Hildebrandt, commander of the civilian military training program, Carl Ebert, former National Guardsman who is now a major in Marion Rifles, and Robert T. Mason who has been actively interested in having a state guard company organized in Marion.

Recommended For Captain

Mr. Hildebrandt said he had recommended that Mr. Ebert be made captain and commanding officer of a company if it should be organized and Mr. Ebert said today that in the event Marion Rifles accept the proposition, he will name Elmer Smith as first lieutenant and Dale Price as second lieutenant. Mr. Smith and Mr. Price are captains in the Rifles.

General Pancost said the Marion company would be designated Co. H.

He told the men that all arrangements are ready to transfer Marion Rifles from a civilian defense organization into a state-sponsored unit, if the men express a desire for the transfer. He said it was unusual to go into a city to organize a state guard unit and find a group of men organized as are the men of Marion Rifles, according to Mr. Hildebrandt.

Fifty men and three officers will be the personnel, and the type of instruction as outlined yesterday will be in close order and invasion fighting, using the British manual. The enlistment period will be for one year instead of three, as was the case in the National Guard.

Both Mr. Hildebrandt and Mr. Ebert said this morning they were "very much" in favor of the transfer of the Rifles to the state guard, but that no definite action could be taken until the proposition is put before the men at their drill Tuesday night at 7:30.

Curacao-Bound Ship Halted by Submarine

By The Associated Press

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, June 20—A Dominican ship has reached port with a double crew but no freight as a result of an encounter with a submarine, the newspaper Beurs En Nieuws Berichten said today.

The craft was overtaken enroute here. The U-boat captain demanded that its cargo be dumped into the sea and the crew of a previously sunk Dominican ship was put aboard. The submarine had seized part of the 17-ton cargo of the first ship for supplies.

A large number of soldiers from Marion and vicinity are stationed on Curacao.

PICKETS WITHDRAWN IN HOTEL STRIKE

Federal Mediator Asks Conference Next Week.

Pickets on strike at Hotel Harding seeking "better working conditions, adjustments in wages and a union shop" were removed yesterday afternoon by union officials pending outcome of a meeting of the hotel board of directors next week.

Agreement to withdraw the picket line was reached in a three-hour closed meeting yesterday of hotel and union officials with Hugh Friel of Columbus, federal labor mediator.

Mr. Friel came here yesterday at the request of AFL local 810, Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders union, a labor group which includes the hotel strikers. J. Malcolm Strelitz, attorney for the hotel and a member of the board of directors, said that he first learned yesterday morning that a labor conciliator was coming here. Yesterday afternoon he was asked to arrange a meeting of hotel and union officials to meet with Mr. Friel.

Mr. Strelitz said today that decision to remove the pickets from the hotel area was a voluntary action on the part of the union. Withdrawal of the pickets is temporary pending the board meeting.

Union officials could not be reached today for a statement.

It was the first attack on such scale in several days.

125 TONS GOAL IN SCRAP DRIVE

Collections Now Total 55 Tons, Reports by Campaign Aids Show.

One hundred and twenty-five tons has been set as the goal for Marion county's scrap rubber campaign, Henry A. Krigbaum and J. P. Sharkey, co-chairman of the Marion county Petroleum War Council, and George Alber, Marion county chairman of the Ohio Salvage committee, announced today.

Approximately 55 tons of rubber—or more than one-third of the quota—has already been raised, according to a report of George Long of the Standard Oil Co., who is keeping daily tabulations on the progress of the drive.

More than 26,000 pounds of scrap was reported collected yesterday. Of this amount 23,822 pounds was purchased by gasoline filling station operators at one cent per pound. Only 2,811 pounds were donated.

The drive is two-fold in its purpose. In addition to relieving the shortage of rubber for war industry, the drive will also financially aid the United Service Organization, the army and navy relief funds and the Red Cross.

Proceeds from all rubber donated as well as rubber collected by the Marion Boy Scouts will be given to the United Service Organization only.

At 1 p. m. today a large number of Scouts under the direction of Loy D. Rhoads, scoutmaster of Troop 1 sponsored by the Elks lodge, began a city-wide door to door canvass for scrap rubber. The scout participation will continue through next week when the drive ends. Today scouts canvassed the east-west streets and early next week the north-south streets will be covered.

Names and addresses of persons with scrap rubber on hand will be taken and next week scouts will return in trucks to pick up the material.

The campaign started last Monday by presidential proclamation and will end June 30.

Bell, of Central Christian church, chairman of the forum, Louis Michel of the Chamber of Commerce, William Williams, Harding High school football coach, and Cecil Gabler, who will act as moderator.

NAZIS REPORT ARMY SET TO ENTER EGYPT

Boastful Claim Made as British Public Asks "What's Wrong in Libya?"

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 20 — German broadcasts boasted today that Adolf Hitler's desert army was ready to sweep into Egypt as bitter British disappointment turned to demands that the house of commons say what went wrong in Libya.

Whether German reports that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was ready for a second phase of his offensive were true or mere propaganda, British reverses in Libya have made the threat to Egypt and the Suez an ominous reality.

As need all along [illegible] success was within grasp the British were totally unprepared for the sudden reversal in the wild Libyan fighting and for the explanation of military observers that again there was "too little" against overwhelming enemy might.

The Daily Mail, joining a chorus of newspaper criticism, demanded an inquest in parliament.

The enemy knows why and how he won the battle," it declared. "We have a right to know how we lost it."

Seen as "Second Front"

Libya was pictured in The Times today as a ready-made second front for an allied offensive.

"Egypt and the Mediterranean will have their rightful place in the survey of this decisive year on which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are engaged," the influential newspaper said.

It added that the Russians were aware "of the supreme importance of defending and strengthening the Middle East bridge."

In broad terms, the unconsoling analysis of British military critics was that the British Eighth army lacked what it needed to stem Rommel's thrust—foresight to gauge the enemy's strength correctly, adequate armored equipment and the skill to use what it had to best advantage.

Specifically, they said the lessons of the Libyan campaign were that the British needed more of the United States' 28-ton tanks and that [illegible] superior in strength over desert battlefields.

Says Subs Signalled From Hotel Windows

By The Associated Press

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 20—Axis submarines were flashed signals from hotel windows along the Atlantic coast, Judge Thomas Siddall, Atlantic City defense council chairman, asserted last night.

The Atlantic county judge said he had seen the signals reflected from hotels in Atlantic City and other shore resorts. The flashing of lights from top floor windows was visible for miles, he told the 23rd annual convention of the New Jersey department, Disabled American War Veterans.

"A stop was put to it—I guess. It is safe to say that—but whether it is going on elsewhere I am not in a position to say."

JAP SHIP BLASTED IN RABAUL HARBOR

Strong Force of Allied Planes Used in Attack.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, June 20—A strong force of allied bombers scored three direct hits yesterday on a 10,000-ton Japanese transport and probably damaged other ships in the harbor at Rabaul, New Britain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

In addition, the allied flyers attacked the Rabaul airdrome, destroying several Japanese bombers on the ground and damaging buildings, said the communique. The raid was made "in heavy strength," the bulletin added.

Seven Japanese Zero fighters and two seaplanes went aloft in an effort to intercept the allied raiders, but one of these planes was shot down and another probably destroyed without damage to the allied planes, all of which returned safely to their base.

SMOLENSK SAID TO BE TARGET OF HUGE DRIVE

Reds Silent on Report from Nazis, Who Press Toward Sevastopol.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 20—Keeping the enemy guessing as to their real intentions, the Russians remained silent today on a German report that the Red army had launched a huge new offensive against Smolensk while the Germans continued to exert enormous pressure in the smoke-obscured battle about Sevastopol in the Crimea.

(A BBC broadcast from London said the Russians had recaptured a large town on the Kalinin front in the sector north of Smolensk.)

The German report, as heard here, said Russian infantry in the central sector west of Moscow was attacking in waves with tank and infantry support, but there was no confirmation from any Soviet quarter.

It was recalled here, however, that when the Germans began their early May offensive on the Kerch peninsula in the Crimea, the Russians began their own offensive against Kharkov May 12 but said nothing about it officially for several days.

The Russians have been holding two salients which pointed toward Smolensk, 220 miles west of Moscow.

One extends through Dorogobuzh, 50 miles southeast of Smolensk and only 20 miles south of the Smolensk-Moscow highway.

The other runs to Toropets, 120 miles north of Smolensk and 40 miles east of Velikie Luki. A finger of this salient extends into white Russia between Velikie Luki and Smolensk.

Caught between the two salients are German-held Gzhatsk, 93 miles west of Moscow and Vyazma. The Russian lines extend to the outskirts of Rzhev to the north of Vyazma.

Pressure On Sevastopol

Meanwhile, reinforced Nazi troops—perhaps spurred by hopes of a token victory for the first anniversary of the German-Russian war Monday—appeared today to be increasing pressure upon smoking and explosive-scarred Sevastopol.

Soviet dispatches said fresh soldiers had joined Gen. Erich von Manstein's assault divisions to replace the thousands who had fallen in the all-out offensive he launched against the Crimean naval base 10 days ago.

Multiple attacks again tested the fortifications. Some Red army gun crews were buried alive under earth thrown up by German shells. Smoke screens covered infantry thrusts.

Nevertheless, a Berlin declaration that defenses of the besieged Crimean stronghold had been cracked was not confirmed here.

"Our infantrymen, sailors and artillerymen, repelling attacks of the enemy, are delivering even new blows against them," the Soviet information bureau said in a communique.

Sevastopol Threat Called "Very Great"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 20 — The British broadcasting corporation quoted its Moscow correspondent Paul Winterton, today as saying the "Germans have reached the high road leading to Sevastopol" and "the danger is very great," CBS heard the report.

"Throwing in reinforcements regardless of cost, they (the Germans) are now hammering the fortress from both south and east, and from across the mile-wide estuary to the north," the broadcast quoted him as saying. "They admit continued Russian resistance of the northern side of the harbor, and there is no confirmation of a German claim that shore troops have reached the docks."

The Germans dropped several hundred thousand bombs in a single morning, and have wedged a weight of men and metal into a position pointing dangerously at the heart of the city, he added.

The correspondent said the Russians estimated the Germans had lost 40,000 killed during the present attack now in its third week.

Germans Report Troops "Annihilated"

BERLIN—(From German Broadcasts)—June 20—Bitter fighting is in progress for the last remaining coastal fort on the north part of Sevastopol's defenses, the German high command asserted today, while on the Ukraine front not far east of Kharkov a Soviet division was declared surrounded and almost annihilated.

"Soviet remnants north of Sewernaja bay near besieged Sevastopol are being annihilated," the communique said, while artillery position and an area [illegible] were captured by the Germans.

Your Mother's Husband

A Sermonette

By REV. JOHN A. CARRIKER

Pastor, Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church.

SOMEWHERE we [illegible] accept [illegible] meaningful [illegible] individual [illegible] wealthy and prominent and you stand [illegible] call him "Father!"

If he [illegible] short sleeves and suspenders at ball games and picnics, call him "Pop." If he [illegible] the long coat, [illegible] Sunday school [illegible] him "Pa." If he [illegible] carriage and carries [illegible] weekly, call him "Papa" (accent on the first syllable.) If he belongs to a literary [illegible] society and writes learned papers on obstruse subjects, or if he is a reformer in politics and forgets to vote, call him "Papa" (accent on the last syllable.)

If, however, he makes a pal of you when you're good, and is too wise to let you pull the wool over his loving eyes when you're not; if, moreover, you're sure no other fellow you know has quite so fine a father, you may call him "Dad"—but not otherwise.

On Father's day every mother's husband will do well to examine his standing with his children. Of all the people [illegible] to perform as when [illegible] to stand [illegible] their children come first. They are our friends and our [illegible]. God gave them to us and they become our first responsibility—that a willing and loving response [illegible] was today we ask ourselves, "What have I done with all this for?"

Today [illegible] recall that pure, sweet, [illegible] faith and trust which they had in us. Such a faith and trust is rarely equalled in any other period of life. So wonderful is it that Jesus said, "Of such is the Kingdom of God."

In the early years it was easy for us to hold that faith and trust of our children, but there came a day when we had to prove our right to their unbounded faith and trust. Sooner or later our children see us as we really are. Happy are we if they can still see and think of us as they did when they were little children.

This they can do if in their maturer judgment they find us always supporting the best causes, going to the best places and taking a steadfast stand for righteousness all along the line.

Sad, indeed, is the day when our children must turn to others for the warm-hearted love which their hearts crave, when they must look elsewhere for right principles of life, when they can no longer trust our judgment about men and things.

Home is happier and the world becomes a better place in which to live when fathers are able to command the confidence of their children to the end of their days. Then every day will be Father's day.

This is a big order for fathers, so big that it can not be realized by their own wisdom and strength. The order calls for God in the life of every father. It calls for God's wisdom, God's strength in his life. The father who is right with God has found the way to keep right with his children. Our children will never be afraid to walk with us when they know that we are walking with God.

Just Plain Talk...

For a perfect tribute, two things are necessary . . . complete service and fine quality merchandise. Now our complete service is different from the usual . . . includes everything which is essentially part of service.

And our funeral at $95 receives the same careful attention as any . . . over 70 items of service. Whatever the price, WE MAKE NO DISTINCTION!

And when we tell you this casket has a loose coil mattress, that means its PREMIUM QUALITY. You can expect the better . . . not something "just enough" for a low price.

MOVE TO DEDUCT TAX FROM PAY CHECK GROWS

Plan Gains Strong Support in House Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 20—An ... and complicated scheme to compel individuals to shift gradually to payments of their federal income taxes out of each pay-check gained strong support today in the house ways and means committee.

Randolph Paul, tax advisor to Secretary Morgenthau, laid before the committee a plan, which members said they probably would approve in some form, involving deductions from pay envelopes and salary checks, beginning next January, of 10 per cent of an individual's tax liability—less salary minus exemptions—for that pay period.

Half of these automatic deductions would be applied against this year's tax liability due in 1943. The other half would accumulate in 1943 against the income tax payable in 1944.

Under the plan, individuals would be paying nothing but current taxes out of their current pay-checks within two years.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Coxe

"I promised myself I'd kill him," Ward said.

YESTERDAY: Joyce Murdock disliked Perry Clarke the moment he crashed the title-kicking party she and two friends, Ward Allen and Delia Bryant, were having. It soon was obvious that the others felt the same way, and that Ward even feared the newcomer. And Joyce's curiosity got a fillip when she learned that Clarke had been married a short time to Hester Losado who had been Mrs. Murdock before Joyce assumed that title.

Chapter Three
Something Wrong

THEY waited in the foyer while Allen claimed his coat and hat, and no one said anything until they were on the sidewalk.

"Who was that?" Delia asked, very busy with the fitting of her gloves.

"Perry Clarke?" Allen was watching the doorman signal a cab. "Oh, just a guy I used to know in South America. Nasty little bounder, isn't he?"

"Then he isn't really a friend of yours?"

"Hardly." Allen laughed. "As a matter of fact, when I left Caragua I think I promised myself I'd kill him the next time I saw him."

"Ward!"

"But that was quite a while ago." He laughed again. "It's all right, Dee. He's not worth the bother now."

The cab drew alongside and he opened the door and handed them in. They made room for him in the center.

"If it's an eighty-forty curtain we'll just about catch it," he said.

His voice was right now; so was his smile. There was not outward indication that seeing Perry Clarke had upset him, and yet, somehow, Joyce could not forget how the man had watched Ward Allen, nor the look of grim hatred on Ward's face when the other had moved away.

All the way to the theater she wondered about it, trying to recall the things that were said. She wondered, too, about Hester Losado and no matter which way her thoughts moved she found them strangely disturbed.

Strained Relations

When Ward Allen had eased the coupe into the open space in front of her apartment house Delia waited for him to turn off the ignition and dim the lights. She sat there, not looking at him, until she felt his eyes upon her and knew that he was about to open the door, then she said:

"No cigaret?"

"Oh—I'm sorry."

He reached for his case and she leaned forward and turned the ignition key. When he had given her a cigaret and a light they settled back and smoked in silence.

It was part of a long practiced routine. When Ward brought her home late he never came up to the apartment, instead he had adopted the practice of spending the last few minutes here in the car.

Always there was the cutting of the motor, the dimming of lights, the cigarets then they would sit and talk—about the evening or themselves, sometimes for five minutes, sometimes for half an hour.

It was very quiet now, and dark. There was no traffic on this side street and no pedestrians, although now and then she would get a glimpse of a car as it sped by the intersection up ahead. She waited a minute or so for his arm to slip about her shoulder and when it did not come, her mind went back to the first time they had done this.

Six months ago, almost to a day. Before that he had never so much as touched her except to help her in and out of a car. In the beginning she had met him because he worked for Dean Thorndike, and when her father had gone to London, insisting that she remain here, Thorndike, her father's cousin, had assumed the responsibility for her.

She knew why there had been no offered cigaret. He was not thinking of her but of something of which she had no part. She put her hand on his arm.

"What is it, darling?"

"Oh—I don't know." He looked at her, smiling a little, his voice light. "Nothing, I guess."

Her fingers touched his face, tracing the hollow of his cheek and the line of his chin.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

The Director of Defense Transportation has issued a General Order curtailing local delivery services as a means of conserving transportation facilities and equipment. We are obliged by Government Order to make further reduction in our total mileage by 25 per cent and for your information we quote from General Order O.D.T. No. 6, which imposes the following restrictions:

2—There Can Be No Callbacks...

3—There Can Be No Special Deliveries To Any One, Anytime...

We therefore recommend that all telephone calls be placed at least the day before you desire service. That all work must be paid for on delivery as Routemen are not allowed to call back for collection.

These additional restrictions plus the increased volume of work in this defense area will mean slower service than we have been accustomed to render in the past, but we trust the public will bear with us in our effort to do our part to help win the war.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, June 21

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows exceptional activity in all affairs in the realm of heart and home. Social, domestic, artistic, affectional and sentimental matters eclipse all other interests. It is probable this excitement may concern engagements, courtship or marriages. Spiritual affairs all thrive. In all affiliations be careful not to offend superiors, elders or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may have a particularly gay and happy as well as prosperous year in domestic, social, artistic, or emotional affairs, which will overshadow all other interests and aspirations. These should flourish and give unending happiness if there is determination not to offend employers or superiors.

A child born on this day should have outstanding artistic skill with fine creative talents and versatility. It may have a happy domestic life but not be on agreeable terms with employers or superiors.

For Monday, June 22

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of surprising although solid events combining to give security and dependability to affairs generally and the fortunes. Strange or unforeseen developments may give quick and peculiar stimulus to static or crystallized conditions. New ventures as well as public projects are under fine auspices, but all are subject to unwise outlay.

Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised if sudden and strange impetus should give dynamic movement to stagnant and crystallized affairs, long static. New ventures as well as all sorts of public affiliations are under fortunate stimulus, but be careful not to overdo in outlay of funds and personal extravagance. Beware treachery and fraud. Elders assist in stabilizing the fortunes and furthering ambitions.

A child born on this day should have much solid ability, depth and shrewd insight, also much originality of thought.

TERMITE DAMAGE SERIOUS PROBLEM

Few people are able to detect termite infestation until much damage has been done, says Emery T. Smith of the Buckeye Terminix Co. During the Spring months termite swarmers, known as "Flying Ants" emerge from the colony to establish new nests.

This indicates that thousands of destructive workers have been left behind to continue their damaging effects. Smith offers detailed information and free inspection by Phoning Mansfield, Dial 1538-1, representative office of Buckeye Terminex Co., of Columbus, Ohio.

Doors Can Change Home's Appearance

There is one way to put a new face on your house that is surprisingly simple and inexpensive. Hang a new front door to replace the battered or ill-proportioned one that dates the period of construction.

Lumber dealers stock doors of many different designs to harmonize with architecture of your home or contrast with it to add individuality. Most popular doors are made of fir and some are pre-fit—that is, cut to exact size so there is a minimum of fitting.

It is surprising just how much a new door will do toward making the entrance "the doorway to happiness."

PLUMBING INDUSTRY GETS SUBSTITUTES

Fixtures Being Made of Newly Developed Materials.

Seeking to retain the usefulness of plumbing fixtures and fittings without the use of critical war metals, manufacturers report substantial progress in the use of iron, plastics and glass as alternates for copper, brass, nickel, chromium and zinc, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Shower heads, escutcheons, faucets, traps and connecting wastes and overflows are among the plumbing items traditionally made of brass and plated with chromium or nickel, which are now available in cast iron. Problems in connection with resistance to corrosion and plating with attractive and durable finishes are now being worked out. The working parts of cast iron faucets are made of brass inasmuch as it has been impossible to find a satisfactory substitute for this material.

Spud connections between closet bowls and tanks are being made of malleable iron. Plastics, too, are being used as substitutes for brass and copper. Plastic chains and overflow tubes made of plastic have made their appearance as well as plastic showerheads, and plastic strainers for sinks and lavatories.

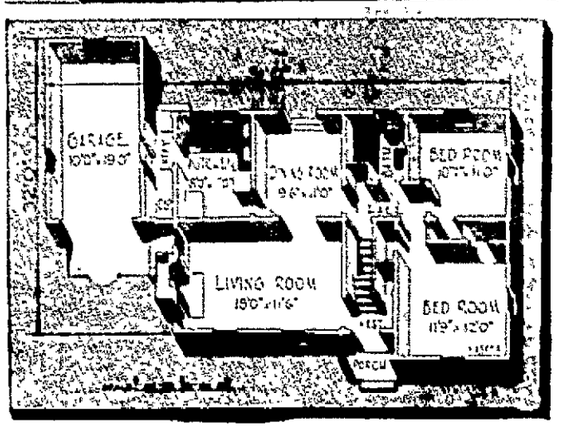
Manufacturers of kitchen cabinets are making hinges out of steel instead of chormium-plated brass. Glass is being used as a substitute for metal to some extent. Closet tank float balls are being made from glass and from plastics. Towel bars and lavatory legs are available in glass and may shortly be available in clear plastics.

Small luminous disks with gummed backs for attaching to objects that may have to be sought in darkness, door knobs or edges of steps, have been invented by a New York man.

Well-Planned American Style House

Definitely Early American in style, this two-bedroom house has the modern convenience of a garage placed where the woodshed would have been a century ago.

Closet space is ample and the good-size living room boasts a grate. Dining room and living room could be thrown together into one large and unusual room.



Building Quiz

Q. What can I use to caulk very wide cracks in an old oak, wide-board floor?

A. Loosen the dust in the cracks with a wire, and take it out with a stiff brush or vacuum cleaner. Wide cracks are then closed with strips of oak running the full depth of the crack and cut to fit snugly. Nail or glue the strips in place. For small cracks make a paste of finely powered sawdust and a little varnish, and pack into the cracks. Dry sawdust is pressed on to take up excess varnish. When dry, sandpaper smooth. If the floors are stained a dark color, mix some oilstain into the paste to match the color of the floor. Paint stores carry a line of prepared crack fillers suitable for your purpose.

Q. I intend laying new floors, and am considering new floors, and am considering using a type that is factory finished. Do you approve of this flooring? Can plywood be used in the kitchen as a base for linoleum?

A. Factory finished flooring is satisfactory and should give you good service. The work should be done carefully to avoid damaging the finish. Get a copy of the instructions issued by the manufacturers, and follow the directions implicitly, if you want a good, squeak-proof floor. Plywood makes an ideal base for linoleum.

Q. I wish to construct a six-foot wooden fence in my yard. How deep should the posts be sunk? Should creosote be used to prevent decay? Should the posts be set in cement?

A. Set the posts at least three feet into the ground. Coal tar creosote is an excellent preservative for the underground parts. The posts will last longer if set in cement.

Q. It is necessary to remove several coats of whitewash from the interior walls of my basement. Scrubbing with hot water and soap have little or no effect. How can it be removed quickly and thoroughly?

A. Soak with water containing a little household ammonia. Although you understand the finish to be whitewash, it is quite possible that it is actually a form of casein paint that is waterproof, or nearly so. If after continued soaking with water you find that the finish does not come off, you can leave it in place and put oil paint on top.

Q. I am getting too much draft in my furnace. I have a double damper in the chimney, and have made other changes. But even so, when I put my ear near the furnace door, I can hear the rush of air. I have to put on coal every four or five hours.

A. Under ordinary conditions, too much draft is due to leakage of air into the ash-pit and below the level of the grate bars. One very common cause is leakage between the bottom of the furnace and the floor; this can be closed with boiler cement. Another possibility is that the ash-door does not fit tightly, or there is a crack somewhere in the lower part.

Q. I live on the second floor of a two-family house that is heated by steam. There is ample heat when the drafts are open; the gauge shows a pressure of five pounds or more, but with the closing of the drafts the heat dies away and every radiator is stone cold. The first-floor family have wonderful heat with less than one pound of steam, and a smaller boiler than mine. If I were home all day I could keep the flat warm by constantly opening and shutting the draft, but being away all day, I do not dare leave the dampers open because at 15 pounds the steam would blow off. What is wrong? What can I do about it?

A. Very possible the trouble is due to quick loss of heat through lack of weatherstrips, storm sash and insulation. Putting in a thermostat would help matters because the drafts would be automatically adjusted to maintain an even temperature in the flat. See your coal dealer about it.

Q. In the kitchen of our old home the walls have had many coats of dark paint. Later, two coats of flat white paint were added, then enamel. This has cracked, we then put on a coat of casein paint. The paint is now peeling in many spots. What shall I do with it? The walls get quite steamy in cold weather.

A. The old paint should all be taken off before putting on anything more. Wash the walls thoroughly with a solution of 2 pounds of washing soda in a gallon of hot water. This will soften the paint so that it can be scraped off. Rinse thoroughly and allow to dry. Then put on a glue size and apply a good sturdy wall-cloth, hanging in the same way as wallpaper. This would be less expensive than tile and you would find it very satisfactory for the ceiling as well as for the walls. Get the glossy kind for the kitchen. This can be had in plain colors or in designs.

Q. In order to prevent the backing up of the sewer in my basement during heavy rains, I plan to install a standpipe open at the top, and about four feet high. I am wondering if this would have the effect of placing a strain or pressure on the underground part of the sewer.

A. Instead of a standpipe, ask your plumber about a check-valve, which is intended for that particular purpose. It permits the normal flow of water from your drainpipes to the sewer but prevents the flow of water in the opposite direction.

Q. If I put my hot air registers in the outside walls of my house, will it interfere with the circulation? Should I use a hot air circulator unit?

A. Putting your hot air registers and hot air pipes in your outside walls would expose the warm air to chilling and check its circulation or even stop it. Before making any such change, you should get the advice of a good Heating contractor.

FOR ASBESTOS SIDING

The best results for painting cement-asbestos siding can be obtained by first allowing the siding to weather for some time, then painting with either ordinary house paints or with cement or stucco paints. It has been suggested to add varnish to the priming coat. This will insure better penetration and adhesion.

Order Saves Iron for 750 Tanks

The FPHA order [illegible] applies to dwellings with [illegible] more than [illegible] bathtubs.

The change in war housing facilities was made necessary by the curtailment program announced by the War Production Board.

FHA BANS LOANS IN POOR NEIGHBORHOODS

Bad Location of Sites Factor in Loan Rejections.

One of the principal reasons for rejection of applications for mortgage insurance according to Federal Housing Administration officials, is the character of the neighborhood of the proposed homes.

Well-planned and protected residential neighborhoods have long been recognized by the FHA as factors essential to mortgage stability. One of the prime objectives of this government agency has been the abolition of premature and unwarranted subdivisions, with the consequent blighted residential areas and depreciation of property values.

Site Important

The poor character of some neighborhoods often results from an attempt to find use for vacant land instead of trying to select property with a definite residential purpose in mind. In too many instances developers believe that because a tract of land is cheap it is suitable for subdivision of low-cost homes, without consideration of its location.

This is an obviously mistaken theory. It is imperative for families in the low-income group to live near inexpensive transportation. Schools, stores and recreation areas must be conveniently located within easy walking distance.

Natural Features

Another cause of poor subdivisions is the lack of consideration and study for the general layout. Sometimes topography of the land and appealing natural features are disregarded. Rolling hills are leveled off and valleys filled in. Many lots in these subdivisions are left facing noisy traffic or uncontrolled land and unsightly views. And often there are unnecessary and expensive [illegible] streets as well as building lots of poor shape.

Now, with the rapid construction of homes for war workers, even greater emphasis should be placed on the development of planned neighborhoods. FHA officials point out that [illegible] principles formerly associated only with high-cost developments are now readily adaptable to neighborhoods in the low-cost range.

HANDLING PUTTY

If putty is [illegible] add a little linseed oil as it is [illegible] and then worked over [illegible] soft, [illegible] powdered chalk may be added. It is a good policy to have powdered chalk on [illegible] hands when handling putty. Keep it in an old salt shaker and sprinkle a little on the hands before handling putty, so that it will not adhere to the hands.

April War Housing Jobs at High Mark

Construction contracts let for war housing by the Federal Public Housing Authority during the month of April were equal to about half of the total war housing provided in World War I.

Contracts were let by FPHA in April for 17,858 family dwellings, dormitory space for 3,610 persons and 650 trailers.

Under the FPHA program provision has been made for 1,086 war housing projects containing 392,717 homes. Of this total, 497 projects containing 111,892 homes are completed, 298 projects with 83,869 homes are under construction, and 343 projects providing 192,016 homes are in the planning stage prior to construction.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1942

One Extreme to Another

THE United States will be lucky if it is not carried too far by the present enthusiasm of its influential citizens for the role that carrier-based airplanes have played in the war. If these citizens are permitted to have their way, vast sums of money will be spent forthwith on airplane carriers, at the expense of all other types of naval craft.

Chief victim will be, of course, the battleship, which has been placed on the defensive by the airplane. One enormously expensive battleship may be put out of commission by only a few of the relatively inexpensive planes off a carrier. The same thing can happen to any other fighting boat, including a carrier, itself. Fighting planes are causing radical revisions in naval tactics.

For instance, the recent action in the Mediterranean pitted the Italian navy for the first time against heavy United States bombers, with the result that the Italian navy lost heavily. In the battle of Midway, the Japanese navy was routed by a counter-attack from the air. Airplanes were similarly important in the battle of the Coral sea, as they have been in every naval engagement of the war, with the exception of the sinking of the Graf Spee off Uruguay early in the war.

Naturally, the inclination of naval strategists and all persons interested in naval policy is to try to accommodate the navy as quickly as possible to these new circumstances of combat. But by the same token that too much reliance on battleships in the past is proving to be a mistake now, too great reliance on airplane carriers in the future may prove to be a mistake, too. Somewhere between insistence on building dozens of new carriers at the expense of everything else and the former belief that a dozen carriers at the most would be enough is the truth of the matter.

Who Has Discovered What?

COMPARABLE only to the discovery by Democrats in 1932 that the Republicans should have averted the reaction to the boom is the discovery by the senate committee investigating the war program that businessmen should have begun to convert their factories to military needs earlier. "Certain $1 a year men within the bureau of industry branches," says the committee with that fruity sagacity characteristic of political second-guessers, "are unable to divorce themselves from their sub-conscious gravitation to their own interests."

This will not flabbergast the public. Suddenly it is clear to the public that nothing under the sun is quite so unimportant as what politicians have to say about producers. It would have been fine if the United States had begun to prepare for war during, say, the Coolidge administration. It would have been fine if it had begun to prepare in earnest long before Pearl Harbor. But for congressmen—some congressmen—to beat businessmen for not doing what neither of them believed was going to be necessary is absurd.

The Truman committee has turned up some valuable material in its investigation of the war program. But its discovery that businessmen failed to save the government from the consequences of its own miscalculations concerning the war is a reckless waste of Grade A applesauce. The only thing of any importance now is that the producers, after getting off to a late start, are making up some of the time that was lost.

Sen. Taft's Too-Easy Plan

PRINCIPAL objection to Sen. Taft's plan for taking advantage of automatic deferment of married men by dividing all men into four classes is its deception. Selective service isn't that easy. Its principle can not be applied equitably if local boards must assume at the outset that certain possibilities are barred from consideration, not because of their actual economic condition but because they have been divided arbitrarily into classes of dependency according to family, instead of financial, status.

Sen. Taft seems to believe that it would be advantageous if certain men now living in a state of suspense were relieved by classification in the group least likely to be called. That should be the responsibility of the men's own common sense; if there be more than a handful of male Americans left by this time who do not realize that military material rarely includes family men over 40, there probably wouldn't be any way to keep them from worrying. In fairness to men already drawn, the selective service act should be left alone.

PLEASING PRESCRIPTIONS

A singular and most unusual thing to confront medical science was that which occurred here on Monday evening. At exactly the same time there were three patients in the waiting room at the office of Dr. Burtch and all were suffering with exactly the same thing. Doc looked them over and pronounced it to be a serious attack of "las vegas des cosmos petunia." Translated from the Latin language that means an emptiness of the stomach. Doc advised the parties to go home at once and pull up close to the family table and partake and imbibe freely for 30 to 40 minutes of potatoes, gravy, beefsteak, vegetables, blackberry pie and hot coffee or tea. The men stricken were Harve Carter, Ira Watkins and ye ed.—Portis (Mo.) Independent.

News Behind the News

Beaverbrook's Mistake on Moscow Territory Grab Quickly Corrected by Washington.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 20—Current suspicions that the British granted a secret clause in their treaty with Russia, promising Stalin all the territory he wanted, cannot be true in view of the inside manner in which the treaty developed.

The still mysterious visit of Lord Beaverbrook to Washington two months or more ago was concerned with this matter. He came over to sound Mr. Roosevelt out on the Soviet proposition.

His soundings must have been faulty, for he returned to London with the mistaken notion that Mr. Roosevelt would accept such a grant of territory.

When Foreign Commissar Molotoff arrived in London a treaty was actually drawn by the British providing for such a post-war settlement.

But when news of it reached Washington, the mistake of Beaverbrook was officially corrected. This government put its foot down firmly against making any advance territorial commitments of any kind. It could not do otherwise.

The British thereupon tore up the territorial draft, and offered the Russians instead the twenty-year mutual defense pact which Molotoff was glad to negotiate.

This unofficial explanation of the matter coincides fully with the official statement of Anthony Eden to parliament, and the white paper issued by the British, both of which were flat, airtight denials that the treaty meant more than it said.

Chinese Viewpoint

The Chinese think Jap seizure of some of our Aleutian islands forecasts a Jap attack on Russia. Recent Chungking advices assume that the Japs wanted to be able to intercept any American bomber aid or trans-Pacific surface aid to Russia. That is about the only military good the Japs could get out of these islands.

No one here professes to know what the acrobatic statesmen of Japan will try next. But with their sea striking force of aircraft carriers gone, there seems nothing for them to do except to sink their teeth deeper into China and try a land attack on the Reds.

Job About Gone

The war production board has done its work so well, it is working itself out of business. Another reorganization is in the making. In about 30 days, Chairman Nelson will issue a directive which will take cognizance of the changed functions, coming about gradually now as plants have been completed, changed over, contracts let, etc.

Both the production and purchasing divisions have men working in the army and navy departments already and their functions will be gradually shifted over. The industrial operations division will be shaken down as there seems to be no need now for refrigerator, washing machine committees and the like.

The whole organization will assume the character of an advisory agency rather than an administrative bureau.

Mr. Nelson, the man who did the job, apparently intends to remain in control, although it has never been officially agreed by the war and navy departments that his executive order gave power over them.

The single-headed, centralized authority certainly straightened out the mess in production with such outstanding success as to invite the adoption of a similar system for the rubber and gas mess, possibly under Mr. Nelson.

It's All Confusing

Congressmen, always trying to read political trends, are having some difficulty interpreting the primaries thus far.

A strong supporter of FDR's foreign policy (Luther Patrick) was defeated by Democrats in Alabama while a Maine Republican isolationist (Rep. James Oliver) was defeated by Republicans there.

Iowa Republicans defeated a Willkie man, and Illinois Republicans renominated an isolationist ("Curley" Brooks) who wisely said "all foreign policy controversy is dead since Pearl Harbor."

But an overwhelming majority of those who have faced the primaries so far have been renominated.

Ickes Changes Mind

Petroleum Coordinator and Interior Secretary Ickes has begun in a modest way to straighten out his career. In a speech to the Motor Freight association, June 11, he recalled with horror that he had made a speech to the American Automobile Association in 1939, saying:

"I have promised some day to give myself the pleasure of driving down a truck-infested road in the biggest armored tank that I can find and bumping these pests off the road."

He apologized, saying he did not know how he could have been so wrong as to underestimate the value of motor transport. Earlier he even made a speech defending congress.

Mr. Ickes is apparently working his way back to correct every speech he ever made up to these last two. If he goes through with it he will wind up on the right side of every question.

Broadway's "First Citizen"

He's Ill, but Hears Cheering News from Rialto.

NEW YORK, June 20—(Wide World)—George M. Cohan hasn't been too well lately, but from the war dimmed lights of his beloved Broadway there have come to him more than several cheering notes. The Rialto is overflowing with soldiers and sailors, the sons of those who inspired him to write his epic song the first World war, his "Over There."

And a few blocks from his office, an office he always described as one that he could carry in his hat, audiences are cheering his motion picture biography in "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Along with this good news there came to him in his convalescence a few days ago the news that he had been reelected for his fourth term as president of the Catholic Actors Guild along with Gene Buck and Hugh O'Connell as vice presidents.

The point is that Broadway looks upon Cohan as its First Citizen and while they are cheering his cinema biography as a hit and a worthy tribute to the man, the producers and actors and song writers are happily anticipating his quick recovery. And, the quiet spoken Cohan said the other day that he would be back in the once bright light theatrical row soon with a new show, but hadn't yet decided whether to make it a straight play or add some songs and dances and make it a musical.

As "Yankee Doodle Dandy" opened and Broadway actors who have been befriended by Cohan for years attended, there was one who had a particular interest. It is Dave Mallen, a dapper little man who has made a successful career for more than a century just by being a carbon copy of Cohan.

GEORGE M. COHAN

Origin of Career

Mallen's career as an impersonator of Cohan began because he lost a button off his trousers when a boy and his father, a New York city policeman, took his police badge and pinned them up for the moment. Mallen, who had hear about the vaudeville act of the four Cohans, immediately dashed out to the nearby theater where the Cohans were playing, flashed his father's police badge and walked in on a pass.

"I returned home after the show and my father forgot to give me a spanking for using his badge," Mallen said, "because I was so enthusiastic about telling what great actors the Cohans were. So later when the Cohans were playing on the same bill with Bob Fitzsimmons in 'The Village Blacksmith' father took me backstage to meet them.

"When I was 15 years old I started to work on the railroad as father wanted me to become a locomotive engineer. But, I was spending all my off hours either in theaters watching the Cohans or else practicing imitations of them."

The New York Central, being a considerable corporation which is too busy to be interested in the prospective career of a song and dance man, brought a sudden halt to Mallen's railroad career by eliminating his $3 a week salary.

Cohan Pleased

"Cohan saw me do my impersonation of him and when asked his critical opinion he smiled and said, 'He out-Cohans Cohan'," Mallen remarked in describing the attitude of his severest critic. "It was ironic though that my first stage job was a role that was just the opposite of the usual picture Cohan.

"He is very dapper and tidy with his clothes, so when I produced a show as an amateur called 'The Yankee Doodle Minstrels,' I wore my best Sunday suit in my part. Ben Forrester, a burlesque producer, saw me in my best Sunday suit and immediately hired me for one of his shows to play a tramp part.

"Then another burlesque producer tried to get Cohan for a show and couldn't, so he hired me instead for $25 a week.

Mallen's admiration for Cohan extends beyond just being his impersonator on the stage.

"He is a man who sees far ahead," Mallen said. "Three years ahead of the day when Hitler plunged us into a new world war, Cohan wrote a patriotic song called 'We Must Be Ready' in the lyrics of which he emphasized that we must then prepare for new aggressors who were preparing to attack.

"As long ago as 1904 Cohan was writing his 'Yankee Doddle' patriotic songs including one that went 'I Want to Hear a Yankee Doodle Tune, Played by a Military Band, It's the Only Tune I Understand'."

And, Mallen pointed out, aside from his patriotic tunes Cohan always gets a philosophical song or two into his shows such as his "Always Leave Them Laughing When You Say Goodbye."

Mallen is a good performer for although he does a perfect impersonation of Cohan on the stage, he resembles him only slightly when he walks out of the theater.

CRIMEA DOESN'T PAY, EITHER

Let's Not Sell America Short on Question of Post-War Inflation.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

BEFORE we wade into the details of the new tax bill which is on its way to the house, let us stand off and try to find, if we can, the general principles which ought to guide us. This is, I know, a very large order, and I realize only too well that the best I could hope to do would be to raise some questions which only much more competent men can answer.

My first question is whether it would not be well to reconsider the idea that this country is threatened with an inflation like that which took place in Germany after her defeat in the other war. Obviously, if we are defeated, we shall be ruined, and we shall have to pay tribute to the victors which will destroy our economy as a going concern and will wreck our currency. But if we win the war, as we mean to win the war, if at the armistice the military power of our enemies is made incapable of renewing the war, if we help to keep enough order in the world so that we can safely demobilize, there seems to me to be no good reason why we should frighten ourselves with the bogey of an uncontrollable inflation.

An uncontrollable inflation would mean that every one who had dollars was seized with the panicky desire to get rid of them. Why, as a matter of fact, should there be such a panic if we win the war? To own dollars will mean that a man has claims upon the productivity of the greatest industrial economy in the world, upon one which not only commands immense natural resources but has become vastly more efficient, vastly more flexible, vastly more ingenious and inventive than it has ever been before. Why should we or any one else be lunatic enough to sell short a victorious American economy? Why, indeed, when nowhere else in the world will money be able to buy so many goods and services?

What Henderson Does

My next question is whether we would not be clearer about what we are doing if we did not look upon Mr. Hendersons freezing of prices and rents as a kind of desperate last-ditch defensive action against an inflation of the German type. For, as I see it, what Mr. Henderson is doing is first to stabilize the costs of production so as to simplify the calculations in the gigantically complex task of making one arsenal out of myriad separate firms and inter-related operations. If prices were allowed to reflect the state of the supply and the demand, the managers of the war industry would go crazy with the changes and would be unable to plan anything intelligently.

Mr. Henderson's second task is to stabilize the cost of living and at the same time to control or ration the supply of necessary consumer goods. The object here is to make sure that the people obtain what they must have and to make them feel that they are treated justly when they must make sacrifices. As a social measure in time of war this is in the highest degree important, worthy of the utmost attention and unswerving support.

But it will, I suggest, be more successful if we describe it as it is. Then we shall be able to see more clearly that if prices are to remain frozen when the supply of goods is greatly reduced, other measures will be necessary. It will be necessary to ration wherever people want the scarce goods so badly that they won't buy instead something else which is more plentiful.

It is necessary also to pay subsidies wherever the goods can no longer be replaced at a cost of production which pays enough profit to provide an incentive. For we must realize that price control does not abolish the practical consequences of supply and demand. It means merely that if we do not want prices to change, then we must change something else. In practice it means that we must regiment the demand and subsidize the supply.

Next Question

My next question has to do with taxes, and particularly whether it would not be useful to define more concretely and more convincingly what is the object of the new taxes.

If the treasury's program is adopted by congress there will still be a deficit, it is estimated, in the fiscal year that begins on July 1, 1942, which is twenty-five billions greater than it was in the year which is just ending. This means that, theoretically, after paying taxes civilians in this country will have twenty-five billions more to spend next year than they have had this year. But next year the inventories will be running down and in all kinds of

Still Hoping

Local Authorities Don't Seem Bother About Lotteries So Congress May Boost Our Idea.

By DAMON RUNYON

IT SEEMS that lottery in various forms going on all over the United States constantly. While it is mainly on a small I am gratified to note that where it is for worthy cause the authorities do not seem posed to interfere.

My gratification comes from the fact this passive attitude suggests a softening on the part of the authorities toward that may be an indication that my proposal national lottery for Army and Navy Relief than which there is no cause more worthy might be launched without bothering congressional action.

If the authorities paid no more attention my lottery than they do to some of those on now, all would be clear sailing. The one side of mine would be bound to notice, though. On second thought perhaps best to wait on congress.

I am aware that some of my readers say that the failure of the authorities to serve minor lottery enterprises of the against their probable vigilance toward operation merely reflects the general hypocrisy of some of the public in this situation, but us not be critical of the authorities. Some they have their reasons.

I AM sure the authorities of the city of Francisco had their reasons for ignoring drawing of tickets in a "pool" on the tucky Derby recently. There were four of $7,464, $2,488, $1,244 and $622 respectively and from the total of $26,000 collected on sales, $13,250 was to go—and I presume did to a local hospital, the balance of the collection being represented by the prize money.

This drawing was attended by considerable newspaper publicity and must have been agreeable to the authorities and as a drawing for a lottery per se the reasons aforesaid would be interesting. Perhaps the sponsors had a angle on the drawing that kept it legal, least did not make it illegal.

I recall that certain society ladies of York City put on a drawing for money in connection with a horse race called Futurity and had the authorities down on like a ton of brick. The purpose was good, and, believe me, I do not disapprove of small projects for worthy causes knowing difficult it is to raise money for charity any circumstances. But I fail to see any ference between lottery on a small scale lottery on the large scale that I propose.

As another example of the small-time prevalent in the United States, I might recent "grand drawing" under the auspices church society for a $1,000 government E. W. Wridgway of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., sent a ticket sold for this drawing for $1 and that it states that only 1,500 tickets will The bond stood the society $750, leaving gross return of $750 if all tickets were sold.

THIS would run into big profit if carried for any length of time. While I am sure proceeds are devoted to the worthy purposes of the society, I still think such a drawing as much lottery as the shaking out of the number in a boleta-throwing in the back of a gin mill down in Dade county, Fla.

Some of my readers complain that a lottery would encourage gambling among sons who cannot afford to gamble, a point is perhaps well taken. However, I am ordering just what influence is being on these same persons by their current go on legalized horse racing, in the numbers in drawings such as I have described as those in the movie theaters and in hundred other ways.

My proposal is for a national lottery Army and Navy Relief during the war, perhaps a short time afterwards, not for as a permanent institution. I say that take care of not only the needs of the of our fighting men but perhaps leave over to eliminate the necessity of gambling in small lotteries for other causes.

Patriot's Return

(From Nation's Business)

The great word "patriot" is coming For a long time it has not been spoken, used it about anybody.

Your real patriot does not like to be pointed out, praised. He does not think he is but of what he does.

How can you tell one? Here are a few A worker in the shops invented what considered the best rifle in the world, fused to cash in. He gave his invention country. His name is Garand.

A young man gave up $48,000 a year presidency of the New York Stock Exchange that den of evil! He refused to seek a sion. He went in as a buck private. His is Martin.

Another, the son of the greatest name ern American military annals also refused wangle his senator for a commission and ion. His name is Pershing.

A prizefighter, who never sold out his risks his title and gives his entire earnings his buddies. His name is Louis.

The manufacturers of gasoline pronounce they will give to their country savings in excess of their average profits past five years. Their name is Business.

A group of Hoosier farmers have themselves to return all government while the war is on.

And you who read may have a can your midst—possibly the boy who delivers paper at your door and urges you to buy Stamps. Or the factory worker who, we are muttering against anything less than time, hollers out, This ain't no tea party is war. Let's shake hands all around and work."

Watch for the return of the patriot be entertaining one unawares.

BOYS STATE SET FOR VISITORS' DAY

Scheduled Tomorrow on Campus at O. W. U.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 20 — Sunday will be visitors' day at Buckeye Boys State on the Ohio Wesleyan university campus.

During the forenoon all governmental conferences will cease, and formal inspection will be made of all counties and cities. Prizes will be awarded.

Monday, the boys winning city and the boys winning county officials will take over duties in Delaware offices while state officials will go to Columbus to visit their offices."

Tomorrow Judge William E. Hundley of the Cincinnati municipal court will talk to the boys on "The Judicial System."

Floyd Hartpence of Westerville, commander of the Ohio department of the American Legion, sponsor of the project, was a visitor yesterday.

Yesterday a minor war was brewing among Boys State officials as the Boys State highway patrol and other state law enforcement officials disputed their respective fields of authority. Sheriffs, police chiefs and student counsellors charged that the highway patrol was exceeding its authority and the highway patrol countered with charges of inefficiency.

It was expected that a bill might be introduced into the legislature to clarify the authority of various officials.

Yesterday "Governor" Don Bowers addressed an urgent message to the legislature, asking that it pass the budget. In the event of its being turned down, the "governor" warned all state offices would have to close today, when leases expire on office space.

NEW FURLOUGH RULE IN EFFECT JULY 1

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 20—Men inducted into the army through the selective service law after July 1 will be granted 14-day furloughs automatically, state selective service headquarters announced today.

Col. C. W. Goble, state director of selective service, said the new procedure would be accomplished by transferring inducted men to the enlisted reserve corps immediately following the induction and issuing orders recalling him to active service at the end of the 14-day period.

The present furlough procedure is left to the discretion of the local board. Colonel Goble reported that the army would furnish transportation, meals and lodging of all such reservists under the new law enroute to the city in which their local board is located and from that point back to the reception center at the end of the furlough.

He pointed out, however, that there would be no change in the present procedure for delivery of registrants to the induction station by the local board, or the return of rejected men.

Any inducted man who does not desire the 14-day furlough will be forwarded directly from the induction center to a reception center.

NEW RATION PLAN IN DELAWARE CO.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 20—Appointment of a two-panel central board to administer rationing in Delaware county was announced yesterday as the OPA moved to set up an integrated control over rationed commodities that will eliminate the post of coordinator.

Heading the board will be D. W. Gibson, who has held the position of coordinator since early this year. Serving as sub-chairmen of the panels will be E. F. Carlisle, former assistant sugar coordinator, and James M. Neville, chairman of the present Delaware board.

Duties of the board will remain unchanged and local boards which have been organized in villages will continue to function in an advisory capacity under the new system, Mr. Gibson said.

Local boards outside Delaware city will have no contact with the district or state office and all rationing problems will be in direct charge of the central board, which will be responsible to district offices. All members will serve without salary but provision has been made in the reorganization to employ additional clerks.

Miss Ann Haas, who has served as chief clerk of the Delaware board for several months, will be executive secretary under the new set-up and will be in charge of the office when boards are not in session.

Willkie and Dewey Run Close in G. O. P. Poll As Their Rivalry Grows

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 20—The political spat between Wendell Willkie and Thomas E. Dewey is being watched by politicians as a preliminary round for the 1944 presidential fight.

The disagreement between the two men came to a head this week when, with Mr. Dewey a leading Republican candidate for governor of New York, Mr. Willkie pointedly suggested that the New York GOP. should not overlook Rep. James Wadsworth as a senator candidate.

The Willkie-Dewey coolness has broad implications for the Republican party throughout the nation. The chief question now is whether the rank and file of GOP voters would side with Mr. Willkie or with Mr. Dewey if these two most popular men in the party should come to a showdown over the 1944 presidential nomination.

A poll just completed by the Institute among Republicans throughout the country, that is, persons who voted for Willkie in 1940, shows that the two men are almost evenly matched in popularity, with a small majority in favor of Mr. Willkie.

The rank and file attitude was sounded on the following question:

"If it came to a choice between Willkie and Dewey for Republican candidate for president in 1944, which man would you prefer?"

Among those with opinions on the subject — and only one in every six were undecided — the vote is as follows:

VOTE OF REPUBLICANS

Willkie	52%
Dewey	48

A recent poll of all voters on 1944 presidential possibilities showed that Mr. Willkie and Mr. Dewey are the two top Republican choices at this time.

Willkie Praised As Statesman

The Republicans who are partial to Mr. Willkie give several reasons. They say that he has had more experience and is more mature than Mr. Dewey; that he takes a broader view of world conditions and is better posted; that his attitude toward the war and his activities since the 1940 election show him to be a big man, a good loser, "a serious statesman who puts his country above his politics."

Willkie

Some also declare that his experience with business and with labor, as a former big businessman, make him an ideal candidate now that the country's problem is industrial production for war.

Those who are partial to Mr. Dewey give as their main reasons that Mr. Willkie is too "changeable," that he is really a Democrat who "sold the Republicans down the river" in 1940, and that Mr. Dewey's record as New York's district attorney and his campaign activities in 1940 show him to be one of the country's ablest men, a vigorous "go-getter" with a fresh viewpoint.

Dewey

Overlook Dewey In 1940

Up until a few weeks before the Republican presidential nominating convention in 1940, Mr. Dewey was the top choice of the GOP. rank and file. Institute polls at the time showed. Then Mr. Willkie, in one of the most phenomenal popularity rises in modern times, overlook him and became the leading choice as the convention opened.

Today's study shows that Mr. Willkie's strongest area is the far west, where he runs 2 to 1 over Mr. Dewey as the GOP preference for 1944. In the east central and west central areas stretching from Ohio to Nebraska Mr. Dewey leads. In the New England and middle Atlantic section the two run about even in popularity.

Churchill Asks Reinforcements, Writer Believes

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

There seems to be no reason to doubt the report from competent quarters in London that Britain's Premier Churchill, now in the country conferring with President Roosevelt, is urging that the United States provide reinforcements to stabilize the Mediterranean front, since that would be a logical request in view of the latest developments.

Loss of control of this zone—one of the foundation stones of Britain's strength—might cost the Allies the war.

The Eastern Mediterranean—taking in Egypt and the Suez Canal—is strategically an inseparable part of the Russo-Middle East cock-pit in which our argument with Herr Hitler bids fair to be pretty well ironed out this summer. Or let's put it this way:

Hitler must break into the Russian Caucasus or the Middle East, or both, in order to get the supplies which he needs to keep his war machine running. As you know there are two main routes to his goal. One lies through Soviet Marshal Timoshenko's Red front in the Ukraine—a gallant line which Hitler thus far has failed to crack. The other is through Turkey, or around Turkey, and so into Syria.

Upon Russia's sturdy shoulders depends the defense of the Ukraine gateway. But the blocking of the Hun drive through or about Turkey is largely up to Britain and the United States.

If the Allies fail in the defense of either of these routes, the fat will be in the fire. The fuehrer will have gone a long, long way toward winning the war. Thus the protection of the Mediterranean wing becomes an imperative part of Allied strategy.

Out of Killer

The Allied set-up in Libya and Egypt has been thrown out of kilter rather badly by Nazi Marshal Rommel's success in isolating the important British-held Libyan port of Tobruk and forcing the main body of the British eighth army to fall back toward the Egyptian border. It isn't that Rommel has won a decisive victory, but his offensive if continued would tend to improve his master's chances for a blitzkrieg against the Turks or Syria direct.

The point is that Rommel, who is showing superior strength, might compel the British to withdraw Middle Eastern forces to protect Egypt. That probably is one thing Hitler is playing for—to weaken the Allied defense in the Middle East in preparation for his own great offensive.

Yankee bombers already are doing yeoman's work in the Mediterranean and Middle Eastern theater, and a reinforcement of our air fleets there would represent our most feasible aid for the immediate future. One suspects, however, that Mr. Churchill also is asking for warships in the Mediterranean, or at least for troops both for Egypt and the Middle East.

London observers think such a reinforcement might cause a postponement of the opening of a second European front until the spring. Still, Hitler probably has the strength to stand off an Allied invasion of western Europe while he stages an all-out offensive toward Syria or against Russia.

Should the Nazi chief succeed in breaking into the Middle East while holding on his western front, the Allied cause certainly would be in a precarious position. So if the Allied high command should be faced with the necessity of making a choice between reinforcing the eastern Mediterranean or invading the continent, it wouldn't be surprising to see them choose the former course.

"Institutional" Users May Get More Sugar

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Restaurants, hotels, boarding houses, and other "institutional" users of sugar may get increases in their sugar allotments proportionate to any increase in the number of meals they are serving, the office of price administration announced today.

Heretofore, regulations restricted such users to 50 per cent of the sugar consumed last year and did not provide for convenient adjustments in cases where a larger number of meals are being served this year.

Air Corps Gives Writers Peep at Way U. S. Planes Compare with Enemy

Progress of American Military Aviation Outlined by High Officers of Service.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 20—The army air forces, from commander Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold to the specialists in charge of the various items finally came into the spotlight today for the benefit of the Aviation Writers association.

Much of what these experts said was frankly off the record but from the lectures and discussions which began early yesterday and ran on through the day, emerged the clean-cut picture of an air force which, operating on all the world's continents, today can boast that:

It has combat planes now which have stood up notably under enemy fire, and is nearing completion of new types which may revolutionize aerial warfare;

Long Supply Lines

It has a supply service—the air service command—which soon will be spanning 10 times the number of miles covered by all the world's airlines at the start of the war, and which rapidly is bringing the AAF to a state of self-sufficiency independent of land or sea transport;

It has the largest air training program ever undertaken by any country; one whose scope by 1943 will be of "astronomical" dimensions;

It is manned by youngsters who, in the words of Maj. Gen. Barton K. Yount, head of the flying training command, are "the cream of the land—if we can't train them, we couldn't train anybody."

While it was caught short by the Nazis in the use of gliders for troop and cargo carrying, it has increases. Operating ratio for May was 63.61.

Other principal expenses reported by Mr. Woodruff included an estimated $313,300 to repair damage caused by the destructive floods of the Delaware and Lackawaxen rivers early in May; accruing depreciation on road property $110,000, and accruals for amortization of cost of new equipment purchased in 1940 and 1941 over a five-year period, $93,408.

Tax accruals for the month of May 1942 were $1,702,943, or $863,278 more than in May 1941 due principally to increases in accruals for federal income taxes of $781,071, railroad retirement act taxes and unemployment insurance act taxes of $51,047, and capital stock taxes of $15,623.

Revenue loads originated during May 1942 totaled 60,076, a decrease of 7,558 cars, or 11.2 per cent as compared with May 1941. Revenue loads received from connections during May 1942 totaled 75,532, an increase of 10,625 cars, or 16.4 per cent as compared with May 1941.

Tax accruals for the five months ended May 31, 1942, show an increase of $3,666,311 as compared with the same period in 1941.

Wall Street Surprised

Declaration of the dividend broke Wall Street tradition.

Stock market news tickers stuttered over a phrase they never before had printed:

"Fifty cents Erie Railroad Co. dividend on common . . ."

It was the first common stock dividend in three-quarters of a century for the much-reorganized and fought-over road.

The Erie itself said:

"Icicles sprouted in hell today.

"The Erie Railroad Co. declared a dividend on its common stock.

"The dividend of 50 cents a share, payable July 10 to stockholders of record June 30, is the first common stock dividend ever paid by the present Erie Railroad Co., organized in 1895, and the first paid by any Erie company in 76 years.

"Thus Wall Street tradition was shattered and brokers were dazedly groping for reliable replacements for the immemorial dictums:

"'When Erie common pays a dividend there'll be icicles in hell' and 'three things are certain; death, taxes and no dividends for Erie common.'"

SAYS OHIO DETERMINED ON TEACHER STANDARDS

State Director Warns of Possible Wartime Errors.

By The Associated Press

CEDAR POINT, O., June 20—Ohio is determined to maintain teacher standards despite the loss of experienced personnel to the armed forces and war industry, says Kenneth C. Ray, state education director.

Ray told the Ohio Education association convention here that the same problem exists now that rose in the last war when "thousands of positions had to be filled with persons poorly prepared . . ."

"At the end of the war," he continued, "those who had been employed in desperation could not be dislodged and many who never taught well are still in the service. In this war an even greater prospect threatens. Unless we act wisely past errors will be multiplied."

State Rep. Walter L. Tarr of Cincinnati, chairman of the state school survey commission, said the group had found obsolete school laws which should be repealed, others needing clarification and many inequalities to be corrected.

Report Two Axis Columns Turn Back

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, June 20—British headquarters announced today that two main axis columns advancing eastward in Libya had turned back when within 25 miles of Bardia, 10 miles from the Egyptian frontier.

Mobile forces of Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's eighth army were reported to have engaged the columns, operating in territory between British lines near the frontier and Tobruk.

"The enemy did not press his advance," the communique said, "both enemy columns turning back to the westward after having approached to within about 25 miles of Bardia."

The eighth army apparently was screening the disposition of British defenses.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's main forces were reported re-equipped and reorganized for whatmost informed sources believed would be a gigantic assault on Tobruk, siege-threatened Libyan port 70 miles west of Bardia.

A possibility that Rommel would choose to by-pass Tobruk was not ruled out, but military observers said reduction of its fortifications—which the British have held since ousting its Italian garrison in the 1940-41 winter offensive—would enable the African corps' leader to plan its use as a main base in an autumn drive toward the Nile.

LIBYA

cannot be made a dominant factor.

Enemy Underestimated

"Quite simply and bluntly," the Evening News summed up Britain's repeated frustrations in Libya, "the reason is that from the beginning we have underestimated the strength, cunning, resources and recuperative power of the enemy."

Even now, it appeared, the Germans may be striking swiftly for the Egyptian frontier without stopping for an assault on Tobruk, the Libyan seaport 80 miles from the border, whose isolated defenders have strengthened their position.

While front line reports indicated the Italians may be digging in for a siege on a line west of Tobruk, the German column which took Gambut was reported pushing eastward along the coast and keeping pace with another force further inland.

The British, meanwhile, strengthened their positions behind the Egyptian frontier and thrust out mechanized patrols from the south to harrass the flanks of the German columns.

A prize fight, a romance and the by-play of a cast of well-known comedians provide mirth as well as drama in "Sunday Punch" which will be on the screen only one day, Sunday.

The story revolves about a prize fighter's boarding house, into which Jean Rogers, an unemployed showgirl, enters as the landlady's niece. William Lundigan, the title contender who had quit medical school for the ring because of finances, falls in love with her. So does the janitor played by Dan Dailey, Jr., who decides that if he can become a prize fighter he might win her.

For Monday, Tuesday.

'Bedtime Story,' which will be shown on Monday and Tuesday, co-stars Frederic March and Loretta Young. It's a love-and-laugh battle, with March appearing as a man who won't take 'no' for an answer, even when his wife says 'yes' to someone else and with Miss Young appearing as a glamorous Broadway star who insists upon returning into connubiality even to the extent of a divorce and a re-marriage, only to discover that her ex-husband, a playwright, has staged her own honeymoon so that what started out to be a romance ends up in a riot.

Robert Benchley appears as a bewildered theatrical agent.

On Wednesday the feature will be 'The Tuttles of Tahiti,' in which Charles Laughton has the stellar role as Jonas, the indolent and procrastinating head of the Tuttles, a cock-fighting Tahitian family proud of its descent from a seafaring Yankee of an earlier generation. The Tuttles are rivals of the Taio clan, their neighbors.

Gangster Feature.

Pat O'Brien and Brian Donlevy, the scrapping stars of "Two Yanks in Trinidad," which will play on Thursday, make their initial appearance as New York gangsters. When Brian develops a legitimate "peeve" against Pat, the latter immediately joins the army. Brian naturally annoyed at this unconventional methods of doing business, joins the army too.

'Maisie Gets Her Man,' which will be shown on Friday and Saturday, is another of the series of Maisie pictures shown of late. Ann Sothern and Red Skelton of radio fame are co-starred in this feature.

"Swamp Woman" Week's Opener of State Theater Bill

'Swamp Woman' and 'Law of the Timber' will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater. 'Swamp Woman' concerns swamplands of southern Georgia. Ann Corio is starred as Annabelle Tollington, former belle of the swamps, who returns to her home after a career as a dancer. 'Law of the Timber' pictures the dangers and excitement of logging in the north country. Playing in this picture are Hal Brazeal, Earle Ebe and Marjorie Reynolds.

John Hall and Dana Andres co-star in "Kit Carson" which will be on a double bill Tuesday and Wednesday with "Tight Shoes" in which Brod Crawford and Ann Gwynne play.

"Tillie the Toiler," featuring Kay Harris and William Tracy and "Prairie Stranger" in which Charles Starrett and Patti McCarty are the principal characters, is scheduled for Thursday through Saturday.

Oil-heating equipment in all public buildings in British Columbia will be converted to use coal.

Bogart Film On Ohio Bill

"Bad Guy" Again Stars in Evil Role as "The Big Shot."

'Bad guy' Humphrey Bogart returns to his vocations and robberies in Warner Bros. bullet-strewn story, 'The Big Shot,' which opened yesterday at the Ohio. He is a bank robber and prison inmate, quick on the trigger and hard with the tongue.

Appearing opposite Bogart is Irene Manning, who makes her film debut in "The Big Shot." She is cast as the girl who was in love with Bogart just before he was sent to prison a third time.

"The Big Shot" is loaded with action and suspense, coupled with Bogart's fine characterization of a three-time loser who is over-cautious against any future acts which will send him up for life. After much goading, he allows his former cohorts to talk him into acting as the "brains" on a stick-up.

Stanley Ridges, a lawyer, agrees to back up the gang in case of trouble. Bogart learns that his former sweetheart (Irene Manning) is now married to Ridges.

On the night of the robbery Irene keeps Bogart in his room at the point of a gun. In spite of this, a confused witness identifies him as one of the criminals and Ridges allows him to take a life sentence for a crime he didn't commit.

"The Big Shot" will play through Thursday, and starting Friday Jean Gabin, in his first American picture, will be seen for four days in a lusty story of the waterfront. "Moontide." Playing with him Ida Lupino gives a dramatic performance as the girl who tried to run away from life.

BUCYRUS CITIZENS VOTE FOR NEW WATER SYSTEM

Move To Improve Follows Rate Increase Threat.

Special to The Star.

BUCYRUS, June 20 — Faced with improving the city water system or submitting to increased fire insurance rates, a citizens group in a public meeting Thursday night were unanimous in their opinion that steps be taken to improve the system.

Citizens voted to determine, by visiting the Ohio inspection bureau at Columbus, what improvements are necessary and to obtain an estimate of the cost which may make necessary the floating of a bond issue.

The meeting was called upon receipt by Mayor W. F. Whitemire of a communication from the Ohio inspection bureau advising that increased insurance rates were pending unless immediate action was taken to improve the water system.

LT. STEWART IN FILM.

An added attraction on the current bill at the Ohio theater is "Winning Your Wings," a short subject presented by the United States Army Air Forces. Lt. James Stewart, popular film favorite who enlisted in the air corps last year as a private and won his commission after attending officer's training school, is starred.

Argentina's production of petroleum has been steadily increasing for 12 years, reaching 3,499,757 cubic-meters last year, seven per cent more than in 1940.

SCENE FROM "THE BIG SHOT" AT OHIO

Humphrey Bogart and Irene Manning, shown above with Joseph Downing, are starred in Warner Bros.' new film "The Big Shot," which opened yesterday at the Ohio.

Wally Beery in War Movie

Stars in "The Bugle Sounds." Part of Double Feature at Marion.

At the Marion theater from a midnight show Saturday through Monday are two pictures, "The Bugle Sounds" and "Dudes are Pretty People."

"The Bugle Sounds" is a combination of factual army life and fictional adventure, with Wallace Beery as the star. The picture was filmed with the cooperation of the war department which permitted camera crews to accompany the regular troops out of Fort Knox, Ky., in the war games in Louisiana. Another unit went to Fort Lewis, Wash., and Beery himself made scenes at Fort Ord, Calif.

The story of "Dudes Are Pretty People" unwinds at a swanky dude ranch where Marcia played by Marjorie Woodworth, is swept away by her environment, forgets her fiance and falls for a tough cowboy. After a series of hilarious situations, Marcia finally returns to her fiance.

On the bill Tuesday and Wednesday are the features "Hudson Bay" and "Moon Over Her Shoulder."

In "Hudson's Bay" Paul Muni portrays colorful Pierre Radisson known as "the First Canadian."

The story of "Moon Over Her Shoulder" tells of John Sutton, an expert on marital problems, who is so engrossed in his business affairs that he neglects Lynn Bari, his wife.

"Twilight On the Trail" and "Joe Smith American" will be on the screen Thursday through Saturday.

In 'Twilight On the Trail" William Boyd as 'Hopalong' Cassidy and his saddlemates "Lucky" Nelson, played by Brad King, and Andy 'California" Clyde, discover the mountain hideout of a gang of cattle rustlers and, after a series of adventures, some hard riding and a roaring gun fight, they wipe out the desperadoes. The feminine lead is taken by Wanda McKay.

"Joe Smith, American," shows Robert Young and Marsha Hunt as a typical young American married couple.

"Outstanding accounts created by the war boom of war mobilization probably be reduced as much as 50 per cent this year due to decreased new financing.

Harder Allows Four Hits as Tribe Tames Yanks; Reds Beat Phils

Hockett's Batting Wins for Indians; Waner Enters 3,000-Hit Class.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 20—Rookie Oris Hockett, whose authentic bat gave Cleveland the jump on the New York Yankees in their current hostilities, declared today that he had quit the Indians this week—but changed his mind later after talking with his wife.

The sticky outfielder's home run and triple off Lefty Gomez drove home two runs and permitted him to score a third in the Tribes 5 to 4 triumph over the world champions last night, but except for Mary Katherine Hockett he might have been on his way back to a factory job.

Planned To Quit

After Wednesday night's game with Washington here, the former Dayton Mic-Atlantic league fly chaser went to Manager Lou Boudreau and said: "Well, Lou, that was it. Goodbye and good luck to you and the rest of the boys."

Hockett, an expert machinist who had quit minor league baseball several times because he could earn more in a factory, said he could make as much now in industry as in baseball.

"I think I owe it to my family to make the choice."

But after talking with Mrs. Hockett, Oris said he learned to his surprise that she approved of his playing baseball, and changed his mind. He told Boudreau he would stay if Cleveland's 24-year-old manager still wanted him.

Boudreau did—and last night Hockett lined a lusty triple to right center with Roy Weatherly on base in the first inning, and scored on an infield out. Leading off the fifth, he drove another Gomez pitch into the right field stands of Cleveland Stadium for a round tripper, and made it a perfect night by walking on his other two trips to the platter.

Rizzuto Homers

Mel Harder gave the Yankees only four hits, but one of them was Phil Rizzuto's smash into the left field stands with another Yankee on base. The Indians collected only five, themselves, but Hockett's clubbing was the difference.

Al Smith was nominated to make it two straight today over the Yanks, who intended to use big Ernie Bonham.

The unluckiest man in baseball, by all odds, is Lefty Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox.

After he had lost 10 games in a row without winning, the fat, good - natured southpaw star thought his bad luck turned Sunday when he beat the Washington Senators. He figured he had hit bottom in the game he lost 2-0 to the Philadelphia Athletics although allowing only two hits.

But Smitty learned last night that there are even tougher breaks the Boston Red Sox beat him 1-0 on a home run when the ball stuck under the bullpen bench at Comiskey Park.

Loses On Lost Ball

Smith waged a magnificent hurling duel with Broadway Charley Wagner of the Red Sox, spacing seven hits to Wagner's six. The only difference between the two was that drive by Dominic DiMaggio which rolled out of sight under the bench and could not be found until DiMaggio was crossing the plate.

John Niggeling pitched a four-hit shutout as the St. Louis Browns pelted the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 and Hal White hurled six-hit ball as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Washington Senators 5-1.

The Dodgers boosted their National league lead to 6½ games by stopping St. Louis for the second straight time 4-3, Whitlow Wyatt annexing his seventh triumph against one defeat.

Paul Waner's entry into a select group of six all-time stars who have made 3,000 hits—Cobb, Speaker, Wagner, Collins, Lajoie and Anson all of them in baseball's hall of fame—proved just an incident in a thrilling 11-inning struggle which the Pittsburgh Pirates captured from the Boston Braves 7-6.

Cincinnati subdued the Phils 6-4 on a three-run homer by Gee Walker and the New York Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 6-5 after losing the first game of a double-header 7-1.

Indianapolis Star Again Leads A. A. Batting Averages

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 20—Reshuffling of most of the American association's leading sluggers continued this week but Joe Bestudik, the No. 1 hitter, once more refused to be drawn into the scramble.

The Indianapolis third baseman had a mark of .349 up to Thursday, a decline of six points under last week's figure, but still 22 points better than his nearest challenger—Teammate Wayne Blackburn.

Blackburn boosted his average three more points and moved from third place to second with .327 as Ed Stanky of Milwaukee skidded to sixth in losing 13 points. Don Lang of Kansas City showed the greatest gain among the top men—an advance of six points that lifted him from ninth to a tie for third place.

Here are the 10 high hitters:

Bestudik, .349; Blackburn, .327; Eric Tipton, Kansas City, .323; Lang, .323; Joe Vosmik, Minneapolis, .319; Stanky, .317; Andy Gilbert, Louisville, .314; Hugh Geary, Minneapolis, .312; Jim Grant, St. Paul, .308; Hal Peck, Milwaukee, .307.

Bestudik also maintained his No. 1 rating in three other departments; most triples with eight, most hits, 81, and most total bases, 126. Johnny McCarthy of Indianapolis still set the pace in runs batted in with 48, and scored 40 runs, tops in that department.

Harvey Walker of Minneapolis had the most homers, 12; Stanky the most doubles, 22, and George Myatt of Columbus the most stolen bases, 14.

Leading the pitching parade was Herb Karpel of Kansas City with five victories and no defeats.

President Revokes Order for Champ's Transfer.

By The Associated Press

YAPHANK, N. Y., June 20—Private Joe Louis, world's heavyweight boxing champ, nursed a small "mouse" under his right eye today as a result of a surprise exhibition match at Camp Upton last night.

Louis, who had been told he couldn't fight again until he completed his basic army training, tangled with Sparmate George Nicholson in an unexpected feature of an exhibition show for civilians and soldiers.

The champ was supposed to have left Camp Upton for Fort Riley, Kan., yesterday, but orders were countermanded to permit him to fight.

The counter order, it was learned, came directly from President Roosevelt.

Total Receipts Higher at Mt. Gilead Pool

MT. GILEAD, June 20—Total municipal swimming pool receipts are higher here to date than they were last year, according to Carl Hopkins, manager of the Mt. Gilead community recreation center.

To June 15 the receipts amounted to $720.40. Many organizations and individuals have purchased season tickets for distribution to children who would otherwise be denied use of the pool.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 20—Charleston defeated Springfield 15-13 in a wild Mid-Atlantic league game featured by a futile eight-run Springfield rally in the ninth inning last night.

Erie rallied to score four runs after two were out in the ninth and downed Canton 7-5 to run its string of wins at Canton to five against no losses. Weather forced postponement of the Zanesville-Dayton game.

RIDGEMOOR COURSE TOO EASY TO TEST CHAMPION GOLFERS

USGA Glad Chicago Tourney Wasn't Given Recognition as National Open.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 20 — United States Golf association officials, having seen one contestant round Ridgemoor in 62 and a dozen others turn in equally silly scores, are congratulating themselves for not recognizing the Hale America benefit tournament as the National Open.

The last two days have been exciting in a way, and the birdies and eagles undoubtedly will continue through tomorrow, but the players themselves have been the first to insist it isn't related even faintly to championship golf. The U. S. G. A. would have been mighty embarrassed if it had yielded to urging and run up its official flag.

Ridgemoor has proved far too easy for the top stars. Even Mike Turnesa, most phenomenal member of the golfing family at present, thought it funny when he scored a second round 66—six under par—to go with his 65 of the previous day.

"It's a little tough on Ben Hogan," he laughed. "He shoots a par 72 and then a 62 and I'm still leading him three strokes."

Hogan's 62 yesterday made Ridgemoor look like a pitch-and-putt layout. Ben, himself, conceded it wasn't his greatest golf. It was just a question of having 11 one-putt greens, he said.

"As a matter of fact, that 62 was all a mistake," Hogan chuckled. "I thought they were going to halve the field after 36 holes and I was giving it everything for fear I wouldn't even qualify for the last two rounds. Now I find everybody is going is play the full 72 holes.

"Somebody ought to tell me these things."

As they started the third 18-hole round today, Mike Turnesa stood a good chance of hauling down first prize of $1,100. But he couldn't afford to slip to anywhere near par golf because the field still was close.

Tied with 36-hole totals of 135—a stroke behind Hogan—were two dangerous competitors, Horton Smith and Lawson Little. Smith, the game's greatest putter, might take a lot of beating on Ridgemoor, where putting is everything.

At 136 were Jimmy Demaret and Herman Barron; At 137 Denny Shute, Otey Crisman and Mike Sipula; 138, Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Dick Metz, Johnny Dawson, Bill Dear and Willford Wehrle, the last two amateurs; and at 139 were Byron Nelson, Ky Laffoon, Lloyd Mangrum and Buck White, eight strokes off the dizzy pace.

NEW YORK, June 20—Looks as if the navy's new 48-hour limit on athletic tours would put a real crimp in the football schedules of those big pre-flight schools...Georgia, for instance, could hardly hop to New England or the midwest, play a game and get home in time... Bucks Will Be Light, Lean and Fast, Paul Brown Says

Ex-Massillon Coach Doesn't Elaborate on Possibilities of Horace Gillom or Tommy James.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 20—Ohio State's football team this year will be lighter and faster than 1941's eleven, Coach Paul Brown told Ohio State and University of Illinois gridiron officials.

The athletic directors and coaches of both schools met here yesterday to discuss the Buckeye-Illini contest to be played here Nov. 14.

Unwilling to up his hand at even this early date, Brown declined to make any predictions about his team's prospects. He only casually mentioned two Massillon High school stars, Horace Gillom and little Tommy James, who bring to their coach some of the best scholastic talent in the country.

Pay Elliot, new Illinois coach, asked Brown, is Gillom the guy that kicks 80 yards?"

Brown replied good-naturedly, "not 80 yards, but he kicks very well."

Congratulated on the recent announcement that Tommy Phillips, Berea High school ace, would enter Ohio State, Brown said, "He picked Ohio State over many other schools in order to get into our department of veterinary medicine."

MINUTE MEN READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY

The Ohio division of conservation and natural resources has put itself in condition to aid the war effort in every possible way, Commissioner Don Waters announced today.

Game protectors have completed the enrollment of "minute men" with the idea of having on call a group of civilian marksmen who could deal with any situation where their skill might be needed. Any organized assault by saboteurs or parachute troops would find a mobile and deadly force very quickly opposing them. Ohio has a large number of good riflemen, Commissioner Waters said. They have responded to the conservation division's "minute men" plan.

District supervisors are planning to hold meetings and formulate plans with the enrolled groups in the near future to develop an efficient method of inter-communication and action with the various minute men groups.

Commissioner Waters has also made available to Gov. John W. Bricker a comprehensive report on trucks, rowboats, inboard and outboard motor boats and men capable of handling them. This equipment and these experienced outdoor men can now be dispatched immediately to any point of disaster or threatened disaster and this helps make Ohio safe on the "home front."

TREE PLANTING PROGRAM DOUBLED BY DIVISION

The Ohio division of conservation and natural resources has distributed almost one million food and cover trees and shrubs this spring for wild life conservation, Commissioner Waters announced recently. This is double the amount distributed last year and five times the amount distributed in 1940.

A grand total of 986,514 trees and shrubs were distributed. The trees were distributed free to landowners and sportsman groups and were also planted on division of conservation-owned lands. The supply for this year has been exhausted.

The planting of fruit-bearing trees and shrubs is in line with the conservation division's 15-point program. Not only do they offer food and cover for game but they also save the farmer's top soil and aid in eliminating the silting of streams which is detrimental to fish life.

RACE OF CHAMPIONS STIRS NEW YORK FANS

MacMitchell Held as Favorite Over Gil Dodds.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 20—Father Knickerbocker's populace turned a very cold shoulder to the junior division of the fifty-fifth annual track and field meet but it is so worked up over today's metric mile that the betting fraternity is making book on the outcome.

The 1,500 meters, 120 yards short of a mile, brings together Lesle MacMitchell, defending champion, and the four men who have defeated him since last spring.

Despite his recent losses, the bookmakers still hold the New York U. graduate as the 6 to 5 favorite with Gil Dodds, the divinity student, at 8 to 5.

That race, along with the pole vaulting of Cornelius Warmerdam, is expected to fill at least 15,000 of the seats at Randalls Island and make it possible for the A.A.U. to turn over some $75,000 to the army emergency relief fund.

FATHER'S DAY FINDS NEW 1942 SLOGAN

"Honor Thy Son" Suggested for Wartime Observance.

By The Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., June 20—Father's day, which gained its impetus during one war, enters another with its founder suggesting a special slogan for 1942—"honor thy son."

"War time censorship and soldiers' pay limits the letters and the gifts a warrior son may send his father, but there is no limit or restriction to the words a proud dad can send his boy," Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, who established Father's day in 1910, observed today.

"Every father's son in the army, navy or marines is hungry for news from home, and he will be thinking especially of father tomorrow. What could be a better way for Dad to show his pride and affection than to dedicate his own day to the boy in uniform?

"Write the boy a letter, a long letter, full of news about yourself and all the family and all the neighbors."

The selflessness of Mrs. Dodd's own father, William Jackson Smart, led to the founding of Dad's day.

Her mother died during the Spanish-American war, leaving Smart with six small children. Strict but gentle, he played the role of both mother and father through the years until his boys and girls were grown and married.

Father's day was a joke to the nation until the first world war brought a new perspective. The doughboy in France missed his dad. When the third Sunday in June approached, the soldiers remembered someone had called it Father's day.

The first shipload of uncensored letters from American boys in France bore the addresses of Dads in the United States.

Organization Heads Plan for Marion's Fund Drive

One Campaign Scheduled for USO and Other War Aid Services, as Well as Community Agencies.

Preliminary plans to finance Marion's city and county contribution to the USO and other wartime organizations making nationwide appeals for help during the present World war, and the support of agencies in the Marion Community Foundation, Inc., were discussed at a meeting of representatives of the foundation agencies and representatives of the newly-formed war board, Friday at Hotel Marion. J. E. Oliphant, president of the foundation, presided.

The time for the drive, which will be held early in the fall, was determined at a meeting of the foundation and representatives of organizations interested in the USO and other agencies functioning during the war period, some time ago.

Report by Chairman

Judge Hector S. Young, chairman of the War Board, gave a report on the progress of his committee and tentative plans were discussed for the campaign which has been designated as a United War Fund drive.

Marion city and county has been and will be called upon to give, and give generously, to the various agencies carrying on the work of the USO and similar groups in our own country and also in aiding the people in the countries fighting with us in this conflict, Mr. Oliphant said in discussing the drive. There is no doubt in the minds of all of us that our citizens, as always, are ready and willing to shoulder their share of the financial burden, he said.

Discussions in the meeting brought out that many appeals already have been received and that there will be others as the war continues.

Nationally Approved List

It was the decision of the group that organizations to be considered in distribution of funds contributed in the drive next fall should be those accepted by the National Council of Community Chests. Some months ago the Foundation voted to join in the 1942 USO drive in which the county's quota is $12,000, and more recently requests have been received from the Navy Relief, Chinese Relief, Russian Relief and the United Relief which includes a number of smaller nations engaged in the conflict. These organizations have been approved by the National Council of Community Chests and will be considered in the various appropriations as will other approved groups.

The purpose of planning one intensive drive for public contributions next fall is to care for all appeals for money and conserve the efforts of persons who carry on the drives for the Community Foundation, United Service organization and others, the board and those interested in the drive state.

Appeals Received

Appeals are being received from time to time by individuals and various groups, from relief agencies recognized by the national council, the discussion brought out. Persons wishing to contribute to these are asked to contact the foundation before doing so and to plan to give their financial aid in the forthcoming drive.

Mr. Oliphant gave a report of the annual meeting of Community Chests and Councils, Inc., held early this month at Cincinnati. The theme was "How Can Chests and Councils Help Win the War?" For the symposium on war chests the speakers included Robert Cutler, vice president of the Greater Boston United War Fund, C. M. Bookman executive vice chairman War Chest of Cincinnati and Hamilton county, Harry P. Wareham manager Community and War Chest of Rochester N. Y., and for the health and welfare organization to help win the war the speakers were Jonathan Daniels, assistant director, Office of Civilian Defense, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Alvin C. Breul, chairman, Council of Social Agencies and the social welfare division of Defense Council, Bridgeport, Conn.

Harry M. Carey, executive director, The GreaterBoston United War Fund, was the speaker for the roundtable on "Conduct of the War Chest Campaigns," and the problem of multiple war appeals was discussed by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman, board of directors, Chase National Bank, New York, and president of the British War Relief society.

Decide On One Drive

At a meeting several weeks ago the board of the Community Foundation agreed to sponsor one intensive drive in October to finance the foundation's five agencies, the USO and other approved agencies. Several weeks ago the war board, which will pass on all appeals for and disbursements of funds and act in an advisory capacity for the board, was organized with Judge Young as the chairman.

A meeting of the foundation budget committee, of which J. C. Woods is chairman, will be held in the near future.

BOARD MAY CANCEL HARDIN COUNTY FAIR

Officials Will Meet To Discuss Calling Off Program.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., June 20—Bert Frederick, president of the Hardin County Agricultural society, said that he felt confident the organization's fair board would call off the 1942 county fair set for September 30, October 1 and 2.

"This is the first I have heard of any request to cancel local fairs," he asserted, then declared that if such a program is the desire of Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, and Governor John W. Bricker, he felt sure that the local society would consent to such a move.

Committees already had planned racing programs, details of the agricultural exposition and other entertainment features. An early meeting of fair directors will be called by Mr. Frederick.

SALES SLOW IN STOCK MARKET

Scarcity of Real Buying Demand Keeps Trends Cloudy, Purchases Negligible.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 20—Selling skill was negligible in today's stock market but scarcity of real buying demand kept trends cloudy.

There was no change for the better in the war news and many customers who might have joined the bidding ranks stood aside to await outcome of the momentous Roosevelt-Churchill conferences. The tax picture also remained as an argument against getting too bullish, at least for the time being.

Dealings, fairly active at the opening, tapered off in the latter half of the brief proceedings and transfers approximated 125,000 shares.

While a few blue chips were up or down a point or so at the close, price variations general were in minor fractions.

Among falterers the greater part of the two hours were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, Johns-Manville and Owens-Illinois.

Occasional gains were posted for Consolidated Edison, North American, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, Eastman Kodak, Glenn Martin, Electric Power & Light and Union Carbide.

Market analysts found a grain of comfort in the General Motors summary disclosing the number of common and preferred stockholders in the company in the second quarter of 1942 rose to 414,852, a new record for this concern. The figure compared with 413,276 in the first quarter and 411,572 in the second three months of 1941.

Marion Girl Scouts at Camp Institute

Marilyn Beal, Maryanna LaPierre, Mary Jane Llewellyn, Esther Markley, Betty Ralph, Ann Schaffner and Martha Gale Frew, Girl Scouts, left today for Camp Ken-Jockaty, near Galloway, O., where they will attend a special camping session for senior Girls Scouts. The institute, which opened today and will continue through June 27, has been arranged to give the girls help in the various activities in which they are already engaged or for which they wish to prepare themselves.

The Marion girls have signed up as their main interest training child care, food and nutrition and camping techniques.

A part of the expense of sending the girls to camp is financed by the Girl Scout Council and part of the girls themselves.

Wool Market Reported in Near-Stagnant State

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 20—The Commercial Bulletin said today:

"Fear that the government may, through OPA price formulae, repudiate its wool fabric contracts after July 1, has reduced the wool market to a state of near stagnancy this week. Business done has been negligible and prices are merely nominal.

"Foreign markets have been generally slow, also."

The paper published these Ohio quotations:

OIL CO. EXPANDING SITE ON S. MAIN ST.

Ground Cleared for Addition to Station Property.

Development of the Standard Oil Co. site at South Main and Columbia street, now under way, should be completed next week, according to J. P. Sharkey, division manager.

The project, which included razing the old Peters home at 275 South Main street, will give the company 132-foot frontage on Main street, with a depth of 92 feet.

The home on the site was purchased in March from J. K. Peters of 292 West Center street and the company took possession May 1.

This week excavation work started on the home site, to level the ground to the grade of the filling station property.

The newly-graded area will be paved with concrete back to the front line of the filling station building, creating a new driveway and considerable extra space for parking cars driven from the lubritorium.

Fencing at the back and along the side will be the fence which used to be in front of the grandstand at the famous Latonia, Ky., race track. The oil company recently purchased the Latonia track.

APPEAL FOR "AIR BLITZ"

Burton Resident Wants CAA Aid in Mosquito Fight.

By The Associated Press

BURTON, O., June 20—An appeal for an air blitz to strafe mosquito hordes that have made life "unbearable for Burton, (Geauga county) citizens has been sent to the Civil Aeronautics Administration in Washington.

The request for an airplane to spray insecticide on nearby swamps was made yesterday by Mrs. Helen Laughlin, wife of Dr. W. M. Laughlin, a licensed pilot who has just been appointed adjutant of squadron I of the civil air patrol at Lost Nation Airport, Willoughby.

"The mosquitoes have become unbearable," Mrs. Laughlin said. "One can't work in the garden. I went out to cut peonies . . . and as I jarred a bush it was like stirring a bee hive. They cling to your clothes and get into the house. We can't keep our houses shut all summer, so I asked Washington for a plane."

County agricultural agent Charles A. Haas said an excess of rain may have accounted for the increase of mosquitoes that breed in neighboring low lands around the Cuyahoga river.

SAYS AGRICULTURE WILL MEET ITS GOAL

OPA Official Declares 1942 Increase Will Be Met.

By The Associated Press

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 20—Agriculture generally will meet its goal of 19 per cent production increase this year, an office of price administration official said today, but cannot expect more than another 4 or 5 per cent increase in 1943.

Labor, materials and transportation, as well as the ingredients of fertilizers, will have to be diverted increasingly to direct war uses, H. R. Tolley, OPA assistant administrator, warned in an address prepared for the convention of the National Fertilizer Association here.

Emphasis next year will be much the same as in this, Tolley said—"more pork, eggs, milk and milk products—more of the fats and oils and proteins which are essential if we are going to produce food in its more concentrated forms."

Shifts in trade practices and drastic economies will be demanded of the fertilizer industry, Tolley said, to alleviate shortages of materials, take up less freight space, and compensate for the squeeze on profits caused by imposition of price control.

LIPPMANN

things they cannot be restocked.

Until the war is over the problem then, is how to prevent the people from spending their extra money. One way is to get them to buy war bonds. But if the treasury sells all the war bonds it hopes to sell, there will still be billions and billions of extra money that cannot be spent without forcing prices up through Mr. Henderson's ceilings.

Now, I wonder if it would not be wiser to recognize this situation candidly, and instead of viewing it with alarm, to view it constructively. Suppose then the administration said to the people: the immediate object of our taxes is during the war to make you feel poor rather than extravagant. But the larger object of the taxes is to abolish a tax structure which will support after the war the normal expenses of the government and the service of our huge national debt. If the tax structure is properly designed, we shall neutralize the national debt—which would otherwise be unmanageable—because in effect the taxpayer will pay himself the interest on his bonds with the income from his bonds.

But beyond that—a huge amount in itself—it is, it seems to me, at least arguable whether or not we must take the view that the extra money in the pockets of the people is a dire menace. If we could mop it all up by still more taxes, are we sure that that would be a good thing?

I am only asking the question. Ought we not perhaps to take the view that it is a good thing for individuals and corporations to accumulate funds, provided they do not spend them during the war and the earlier phases of demobilization? We know that the government will have to finance the larger part of the demobilization and the re-conversion. But will it not be desirable to have reserves of money in the hands of the people themselves so that they may fend for themselves a bit and not be too dependent?

If this were adopted as an avowed policy, is it not probable that the people would do a lot more real saving? Is it not probable that they would see more clearly the common sense of the war finance? And would it not follow the tax bill could then incorporate inducements to thrift which would make the whole bill more enlightened and more capable of promoting a sound confidence in the future of the country?

3 St. Mary Graduates in U. S. Coast Guard

Enlistment of three graduates of St. Mary High school, here, in the United States coast guard was announced today by George L. Edwards, C.B.M., officer in charge of the coast guard station at Columbus.

The recruits are Robert Allen Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Schuler of 270 Chestnut street; John R. McAndrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McAndrew of 302 East George street, and Raymond Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linda Robbins of 478 Bellentine avenue.

The Marion men were in a group of 64 who enlisted at the Columbus station Thursday. They have been transferred to a training station for training in all phases of coast guard activities.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

VISITOR'S SUGGESTIONS

Editor of The Star: As a visitor in your fair city perhaps you will be interested in the following ideas which I pass to you for what they are worth.

1. There are many visitors and workers in Marion from other cities who are strangers. In one or two cities where such is the case social clubs have been formed. A room or hall is obtained and the ministers and priests or city leaders and laymen supervise the activities and make a nominal charge for admittance, say 20-25c. Dances, cards, refreshments, games, etc. and reading matter and introductions all around by supervisors, laymen, church leaders and matrons. Thus the strangers, workers and townspeople get acquainted and have good clean social activities each night at nominal cost.

2. Another thing is "noise." Many towns and cities where there are day and night shifts of workers have made good progress towards noise reduction. Last night there was loud shouting and singing on the streets such as late, as 3 a. m. and much auto horn blowing, besides train whistles, etc. An effort should be made to eliminate unnecessary loud horn blowing and loud talking, shouting, singing and radios so workers can get their proper rest.

RULE ANNOUNCED ON CANTEEN DONATIONS

Homemade Cookies and Candies Not Acceptable.

Women of the Union station canteen, under instructions of civilian defense officials, cannot accept homemade cookies and candies for distribution to troops.

The announcement was made today.

Only commercially prepared and wrapped articles of food or confections can be given to the troops.

The action was taken as a preventive measure only, according to W. E. Orcutt, assistant civilian defense coordinator, speaking in the absence of Coordinator William R. Martin.

"A number of gracious women have brought cookies and homemade candies to the canteen and their spirit is most appreciated, but as a protective measure to the boys going through Marion to duty on land, at sea and in the air, we must limit our distribution to commercially made products," he said.

Officials suggest that individuals and groups interested in helping the canteen, which is under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Willey, make their gifts in money, magazines, playing cards or commercially prepared wrapped candies.

As a further protective measure, all canteen workers will be fingerprinted Monday from 5 to 8 p. m. at the canteen and the records will be filed with the federal bureau of investigation. All workers must be fingerprinted, CD officials said today.

OPA Issues Deadline Warning on Price Lists

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 20—The office of price administration warned retailers today that they must file price lists of cost-of-living commodities with local war price and rationing boards by July — and that the deadline would not be extended.

At the same time, OPA disclosed present plans called for appointment of thousands of persons, as paid executive secretaries and clerks, to assist the local boards in handling their expanded duties.

Secretaries will be picked by local board chairmen, with OPA approval, it was explained, and may in some cases be required to handle the work of as many as three local boards in adjacent areas.

There are now between 6,000 and 8,000 local boards.

Adhesions in Abdomen

I do not believe we hear as much about adhesions in the abdomen as we used to because fashions change, but every once in a while somebody gets an idea that all their woes are due to adhesions rather than to vitamin deficiency. An adhesion occurs very frequently in the abdomen because the peritoneum which covers all the organs of the abdomen and lines the inside of the abdominal wall is very apt to form these bands of tissue.

There are two kinds of abdominal adhesions: one which is congenital or develops naturally in an individual with the development of the body, and the other which is acquired and follows injury or a surgical operation.

It is very tempting to ascribe all sorts of symptoms to adhesions and this was frequently done until a Boston physician made an elaborate study to show what the normal incidence of adhesions is. He found that seven women out of every ten and eight men out of every ten had some kind of adhesions in the abdomen.

Only a very small proportion of these people complained of any abdominal trouble and when they did, very few of them complained in the same way. For instance, the largest number of congenital adhesions is found in the transverse part of the large intestine. To some people this explained the cause of constipation and autointoxication and all the rest of the mumbo-jumbo. But the trouble with this explanation was that people who had the worst adhesions were the people who were freest from constipation and autointoxication.

As age advances, more and more adhesions occur in the abdomen whether an operation is performed or not. These natural adhesions, which involve not only the large bowel but also the gallbladder, the appendix and the liver, can hardly ever be said to be responsible for any symptoms in these organs. They are relatively simple and run true to form, lacking variety in type.

It was once the fashion, as I have said, to ascribe all sorts of dire sickness to these adhesions. Surgeons waded in and cut them out and sewed them over and named bands and kinks after themselves and got knighted for it and had a lovely time: it was a bloody period in surgical history.

The only time I ever saw a surgeon faint in an operating room was when a very nice fellow from Boston went with me to the clinic of a celebrated London surgeon. He said after he was revived, he just couldn't help feeling sorry for those innocent people. Surgeons have, however, learned some restraint about these fields.

The acquired adhesions following a surgical operation are very complex and hardly any two of them are exactly the same. Sometimes they can cause a great deal of trouble in the way of a chronic abdominal pain and even acute intestinal obstruction. Modern surgery, however, has developed means to reduce the possibility of the formation of these adhesions so that we are likely to hear less and less about them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. D.: Will X-ray show ulcers or cancer of the stomach? Will it also show the intestines and tell what may be the cause of constipation and gas in these regions?

Answer: Yes.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

Spencer and Madge Find Ronald in Deep Dejection.

THERE was a finality in my father's voice which told me that he would be extremely disappointed if I did not get the "results" he expected from my forthcoming interview with Ronald.

"If he has any information concerning his sister," he went on, "it is highly important that I know it, for I am sure, as I think you are, that her very elusive personality holds one important clue, at least, to this mess.

"This is no time for scruples," he added sternly, but keeping his voice muted so that Ronald, in the library, could not hear him. "I need not remind you that rescuing Marion is far more important than protecting bruised sensibilities."

"You'll have time to work on him after you get to the hotel, and while I'm at the hideaway. Now let us pick him up and get back to the hotel as soon as we can."

Spencer Displeased

"I must ask you one question first," I said, knowing my insistence would irritate him, but feeling the vital necessity of knowing the answer. "Your change in plans for me does not disturb me in the least, but for Katharine it will mean a complete disruption of routine. She ought to know about it at once. Shall I telephone her?"

"No!" My father's answer, though so low-toned as to be safe from Ronald's ears, was distinctly explosive. "Do you know me so little as to think I have not already attended to Katharine's notification?"

"Oh, of course not," I murmured with more meekness than I felt.

"Since you have brought up the subject," he went on, "I will tell you now what plans I have made for Katharine. Before I came over here I wrote her a letter explaining what I wish of her, and telling her that Lillian will start for the farm day after tomorrow, if Harry's condition warrants it, which I am sure it will.

"I sent the letter out within the hour by a guard, who took two other trusted men with him. One of them will escort Katharine here; the other two will remain on guard at the farmhouse. I also gave her an apparently innocuous code message which she is to telephone me as soon as the guard arrives. I did that to satisfy her that the men are not impostors. Does the explanation satisfy you?"

"Perfectly," I said. "I am sorry I put the question. I should have known."

"Don't flagellate yourself too heavily," he answered, with one of his rare impish smiles. "I know I sometimes keep you almost unpardonably in the dark, so I am glad to explain things when I can. And now are you ready to summon Ronald?"

"I am entirely at your service," I told him, and with a quizzical look he opened the door into the library.

Lillian's unexpectedly affectionate reception of the boy had lifted his spirits only momentarily, as I noted from the complete dejection of his attitude. I fully agreed with my father's dictum that I must make a tremendous effort if I were to induce Ronald to confide to me the special fear which was riding him.

I tried to speak casually, so as not to startle him, but he sprang to his feet at my "Here we are, Ronald!" and I saw that he was trembling. But in an instant he got hold of himself and even managed a wan smile.

"An open fire always makes me oblivious of anything else," he said.

"I'd like to linger over this one myself," my father said, "but we must be getting back to the hotel. Are you ready to leave, or do you wish to see Mrs. Underwood again?"
